NIKKI HALEY LAUNCHES HER 2024 U.S. PRESIDENTIAL BID

The prominent Indian-American politician has become the first Republican to challenge former president Donald Trump

'U.S. NEEDS A GENERATIONAL CHANGE'

Haley, 51, is the two-term governor of South Carolina. She has also served as US Ambassador to the United Nations. In 2021, she had said that she wouldn't challenge Trump for the White House but changed her mind in recent months citing the need for "generational change". BrahMos missile alone can take India's def exports to $3bn by 2026

RAMU PATIL @Bengaluru

WHILE Prime Minister Narendra Modi set an ambitious target of $5 billion to be achieved for India's defence exports by 2024-25 from the current $ 1.5 billion, the BrahMos supersonic missile alone has the potential of achieving $ 3 billion by 2026.

BrahMos Corporation, which specialises in supersonic cruise missiles, is all set to spearhead India's export push as many countries — especially those in South East Asia and the Middle-East — have shown a keen interest in acquiring the made-in-India missiles designed and developed jointly with Russia.

The Indo-Russian Joint Venture which has significantly enhanced the war-fighting capabilities of the Indian armed forces, will start exporting the missiles to the Philippines by the end of 2023 and is confident of getting more export orders.

"Everyone is interested in BrahMos," CEO and MD of BrahMos Aerospace, Atul D Rane told The New Indian Express on Tuesday. "The whole world looks at us, but we can only sell to countries agreeable to India and Russia. Whole of South East Asia is approaching us. The Philippines came on board first. Middle-East is very interested."

Rane, who is also Outstanding Scientist, Director General (BrahMos), Defence Research & Development Organisation (DRDO), said that in some cases the talks are in advanced stages. He hopes to take it forward during his visit to IDEX (The International Defence Exhibition and conference) in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) next week.

The Corporation is bullish about the export potential of the missiles known for striking targets at supersonic speeds of up to 5-7 Mach (times the speed of sound) with precision. "BrahMos alone may be able to do around $3 billion by 2026," said Rane.

"PM has set a tough target, but we are making it tougher for ourselves. Why not? Take it as a challenge," he said.

BrahMos with a maximum range of 300 km is the export variant for land-, sea-, and air-based complexes. P12

Air India's jumbo deal for 470 planes from Airbus, Boeing

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

IN one of the world's largest aviation orders, Tata group-owned Air India will buy a total of 470 wide-body and narrow-body aircraft from Airbus and Boeing. Out of this, 250 would be from Airbus and 200 from Boeing. While the company hasn't divulged the financial details, reports put the total deal value at $80 billion.

"The order comprises 40 Airbus A350s, 20 Boeing 787s and 10 Boeing 777-9s wide-body aircraft, as well as 210 Airbus A320/321 Neos and 190 Boeing 737 MAX single-aisle aircraft. The A350 aircraft will be powered by Rolls-Royce engines, and the B777/787s by engines from GE Aerospace," the airline said in a statement.

The first of the new aircraft will enter service in late 2023 and the bulk of the planes are expected to arrive from mid-2025 onwards, Air India added.

The mega deal has been welcomed by French President Emmanuel Macron, US President Joe Biden and British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak.

"My friend Macron, this is a landmark deal between Air India and Airbus and would further strengthen the bilateral relationship between India and France," said Prime Minister Narendra Modi during a virtual meeting with French President Macron on Tuesday.

"Dear Narendra, it is good to see you, even if it is virtually. Thank you for the strategic partnership. We have achieved a lot from India," said Macron.

British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak hailed a multi-billion-pound deal by Airbus and Rolls-Royce to supply new aircraft to Air India as a landmark moment for the country's aerospace sector.

Later, Modi and Biden had a telephonic conversation wherein the two leaders expressed satisfaction over the deepening of Indo-US ties.

Welcoming Air India's decision to buy 220 planes from Boeing, Biden said: "This purchase will support over 1 million American jobs across 44 states, and many will not require a four-year college degree. This announcement also reflects the strength of the US-India economic partnership."

TAX SURVEY ON BBC SPARKS FURORE

I-T department claims the British broadcaster had been flouting Transfer Pricing Rules to siphon out profits despite reminders

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

THE Income Tax department on Tuesday surveyed four premises of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC), including in Delhi and Mumbai, over its alleged non-compliance of Transfer Pricing Rules (TPR), which sparked a global furore.

Coming as it did weeks after the BBC aired a controversial documentary, India: The Modi Question on the 2002 riots in Gujarat, the Opposition saw it as intimidation and vindictive action, while the BJP attacked the broadcaster for what it called 'venomous' reporting.

Sources claimed the BBC had illegally diverted profits out of India by flouting TPR provisions. TPR is applicable to multinationals operating in multiple global locations. Profits generated by offices of different countries come under the ambit of tax laws of the country of operations.

For its part, the BBC said it was fully cooperating with the tax authorities, adding it hoped the matter would be resolved as soon as possible.

According to sources, the BBC had been non-compliant with the TPR for years despite several reminders from the tax department. The focus of the survey was to look into manipulation of prices for unauthorised benefits, including tax advantages.

Synchronised action since 11 am

The action began at 11 am with income tax officials reaching BBC's offices in Delhi, Mumbai, Gurugram and one more location. The survey operation continued till late evening

The I-T department is empowered to conduct a survey on the premises of a business entity during business hours. It can search files, laptops, computers, hard drives or any other digital storage devices associated with the business entity, to collect information. However, raiding residences and other locations of its promoters or directors is out of scope for a survey.

BBC staffers were asked to deposit their phones at a particular spot inside the premises and cooperate. Some computers were seized and mobile phones of some staff members were cloned, officials said.

Union Information and Broadcasting Minister Anurag Thakur said no one is above the law and that the I-T department will share details about the survey after it is over.

Transfer pricing refers to prices of transactions between associated enterprises which may take place under conditions differing from those taking place between independent enterprises. It refers to the value attached to transfers of goods, services and technology between related entities. It also refers to the value attached to transfers between unrelated parties that are controlled by a common entity.

Intimidation tactics to muffle criticism: Oppn

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

OPPOSITION parties on Tuesday launched a blistering attack on the BJP government over taxmen's searches at BBC offices, calling them intimidation tactics, an assault on press freedom, and a bid to muffle criticism.

The British media outlet had recently aired a two-part series on the 2002 Gujarat riots, criticising Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his failure to check violence when he was the Gujarat chief minister back then.

"Time and again, there has been an assault on freedom of press under the Modi government. This is done with brazen and unapologetic vengeance to strangulate remotely critical voices," said Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge.

The taxmen's action will be seen as the government's 'petty retaliation' for the BBC documentary, said Congress MP Shashi Tharoor.

Poorly researched, says British MP

British MP Bob Blackman said in a TV interview that BBC does not represent the UK govt, adding that the documentary "is a hatchet job... result of poor journalism, is badly researched, and completely unjustified"

The Editors' Guild of India also condemned the searches, saying it was "deeply concerned" about what it termed the continuation of a "trend" of using agencies to "intimidate and harass" outlets critical of the government.

It recalled that similar surveys were conducted in 2021 at the offices of NewsClick, Newslaundry, Dainik Bhaskar and Bharat Samachar. "In each case, the raids and surveys were against the backdrop of critical coverage of the government establishment by the news organisations," the Guild said, adding: This is a trend that undermines constitutional democracy."

Meanwhile, the BJP sought to defend the move terming it a 'routine survey' that came after the broadcaster did not respond to a notice issued earlier. BJP national spokesperson Gaurav Bhatia said the tax department's action is 'lawful' and that it should be allowed to do its job.

Tension in Sir Creek after Pak's aggro

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

TENSION appears to be building up between Pakistan Marines and the Border Security Force (BSF) in the strategically important Sir Creek area in Gujarat following the former's aggressive posturing. In response, the BSF has deployed resources in commensurate strength.

Confirming the ground situation in the area, sources said, "We have been working on improving the habitat of our troops on the ground to which the Pakistan Rangers objected and later mobilised their resources."

Since around a fortnight, India has been trying to build structures on its own side so as to improve the presence of troops. However, the Pakistan

Navy's Marines not only objected but also mobilised their fast attack crafts and boats aggressively. "The local commanders responded befittingly and mobilised their matching resources," sources said. Local commanders have since held a meeting to try to defuse the tension.

There have been proposals to beef up the operational capabilities of the BSF formations in the area. As of now, the BSF operates with its floating Border Out Posts (BOPs) and a limited number of Fast Attack Crafts.

The floating BOPs of the marine wing of the BSF are fully equipped for operations that a border outpost would require if it were on land, officials said. Pakistan has Griffins Fast Attack Crafts but not floating BOPs.

As reported by this newspaper in January last, the BSF in Gujarat is strengthening its hold along Sir Creek and the Harami Nalla area by establishing permanent bases.

The BSF is tasked with securing the 826 km long Indo-Pak international border from Barmer in Rajasthan to the Rann of Kutch and the Creek area, including 85 km of coastal area of Gujarat.

The Creek is a 98 km long narrow strip of water between the two countries in the marshy areas of Rann of Kutch and opens up into the Arabian Sea. The area has inhospitable weather and terrain, while the marshes are home to poisonous snakes and scorpions. Last year, the BSF had apprehended 22 Pakistani fishermen and seized 79 boats along the marshy terrain in the Bhuj sector. The Indo-Pak border in Sir Creek is yet to be demarcated.

Court to BJP MLA: Pay up ₹1.38 crore or go to prison

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A city court has convicted BJP MLA from Mudigere MP Kumaraswamy in eight cases of cheque bounce and sentenced him to pay a total amount of ₹1.38 crore to the complainant failing which the MLA will have to undergo a simple imprisonment of six months in each case.

Judge J Preeth convicted and sentenced Kumaraswamy for the offences punishable under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act.

"The accused has questioned the financial capacity of the complainant and has also gone to the extent of saying that he gave of a sum of Rs 1.40 crore to the complainant only to get rid of the cases filed against him during the elections. No prudent man will just give away such a huge amount without any liability. This is nothing but cock and bull story cooked up by the accused to get away from the clutches of law and the same is not permissible", the court observed.

The complainant HR Huvappa Gowda, a resident of Chikkamagaluru City, filed the complaint against accused Kumaraswamy in 2021. Both the complainant and accused are known to each other.

After killing 2 in Kodagu, 'man-eater' tigress captured

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Madikeri

THE tigress that is believed to have killed two estate labourers of a family within a span of 15 hours in south Kodagu was captured by the Forest Department officials on Tuesday. The big cat had killed Chetan (18) and Raju (65) belonging to the Jenukuruba community at Churikadu in K Badaga village. The incidents had created panic among the people living in the region.

It took 150 foresters equipped with weapons, including staff from outside the district, four tamed elephants and expert veterinarians to trap the man-eater which is aged between 11 and 13. She has been shifted to the rescue centre in Mysuru.

Foresters of Virajpet and Nagarahole Wildlife Divisions overpowered the big cat around noon at Nanachi Gate of Nagarahole Tiger Reserve near Kutta. The mahouts of the tamed elephants Abhimanyu, Ashwathamma, Bheema and Ganesh used in the operation scouted acres of coffee estates in the forest fringes even as several teams of foresters combed a vast area. The wild animal was tranquilised by Deputy Range Forest Officer Ranjan and his team while mounted on an elephant.

Gopal KP, Assistant Conservator of Forest, Nagarahole Wildlife Division, said, "The tigress has injury marks on her body, including legs, which could be the result of a territorial fight." The captured tigress was earlier given an ID at Veeranahosahalli.

Sudhakar agrees to hike ASHA workers' honorarium

ENS @ Bengaluru

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar assured that the honorarium of Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHA) workers will be hiked by Rs 2,000 this year.

Participating in a state-level conference of ASHA workers in Bengaluru on Tuesday, he said that he will try to ensure that all legitimate demands of the workers are met, and it is announced during the budget session.

He said the workers' honorarium has been hiked by Rs 1,000 twice after he became health minister.

The ASHA workers have demanded that an ASHA Nidhi fund of Rs 5 crores be allocated separately for healthcare of workers. Sudhakar said that he will discuss it with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, and efforts will be taken to eliminate technical glitches that the workers face, and honorarium will be paid on time.

During the pandemic, many had worked from home, he said, adding that only the ASHA workers were on the ground, implementing vaccination programmes and other central and state health schemes like the POSHAN Abhiyan or the Indradhanush vaccination scheme.

A discussion will also be held to provide a lumpsum amount as incentive to workers who have completed 10 years in service or are nearing retirement.

Several health targets are yet to be achieved which the ASHA workers will help to accomplish like the target of reaching 100 per cent institutional delivery in Karnataka and reducing the maternal and infant mortality rate, and eliminating malnutrition, Sudhakar said.

Nandi Hills ropeway agreement inked, deadline March '25

Project on 12 acres of land to cost ₹93cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SETTING a March 2025 deadline to commence operations on the ambitious ropeway project at Nandi Hills, the Karnataka state tourism department has signed a concession agreement for executing the project with Dynamicx Ropeway private limited.

V Ram Prasath Manohar, tourism director, told TNIE that the agreement was signed on Monday late night and the announcement was made on Tuesday.

The project will take two years for execution and the feasibility study conducted around two years back is being executed, he said, adding that the project should be operational by March 2025.

Earlier, a proposal to carry out a ropeway project at Chamundi Hills was cancelled by the state government following protests from locals and activists. However, in case of Nandi Hills, ornithologists, conservationists and forest department officials have raised objections, but the state government is inclined on executing the project, said a senior forest department official.

"The ropeway project will be taken up on 12 acres of land, of which 10 acres are under the revenue department, where the work will start. The department, in the mean time, will apply for clearances from the forest department," said Manohar.

The agreement shows that the cost of the project is Rs 93.40 crore which will be of 2.93 km in length, and will be developed on a public private partnership. The company will develop the project on design, build, finance, operate and transfer model with a concession period of 30 years.

Kapil Mohan, additional chief secretary, tourism department, said the ropeway will not only cut down on time to reach the hill top but also pollution.

It will also improve connectivity and attract more tourists, he added. Revenue and non-revenue generating facilities have also been planned at upper and lower landing stations. These facilities would also cater to tourists staying at various accommodation around the location.

RESIDENTS PROTEST OVER STENCH FROM WASTE UNIT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RESIDENTS of Banashankari 6th phase and Lingadheeranahalli villagers gathered in large numbers in front of the waste processing unit on Tuesday, demanding that the BBMP either shift or shut it down due to the unbearable stench emanating from the plant.

After requesting the Palike to control the foul smell, the agitators said that no action was taken, which has compelled them to launch a protest.

TS Mahesha, president of Banashankari 6th phase RWA, said that the processing unit was reopened on February 18, 2022, and after which the stench has become worse. Recently, MLA ST Somashekhar wrote a letter expressing solidarity with the residents and asked BBMP to take steps in this regard. Similarly, CM Basavaraj Bommai also sent a letter to BBMP Commissioner on February 9, 2023 to take action. "It has been a week, and no action has been taken. We want the BBMP to either shut it down or shift it," said Mahesha.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that the Palike has received letters from both MLA ST Somashekar and the CM, and steps will be taken.

BBMP Joint Commissioner and Lingadgeernahalli waste processing unit in-charge, KR Pallavi said that the waste is being diverted to other plants and the situation will be assessed in the next few days.

"I have checked and no foul smell has been detected from the plant which processes only wet waste. The BBMP also has taken care of leachate. The processing unit is being run scientifically. After protest, BBMP has diverted some of its vehicles to other waste processing units," said Pallavi.

Farmers may get plots in own land: BDA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A high-level meeting held at the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) head office for eight hours on Tuesday contemplated allotting land-losing farmers a portion of the developed land within their own property and adopting the randomisation technique to allot them land as compensation.

While computerised randomisation is followed in the allotment of BDA sites, this would be the first time that land losers would be provided the exchange land in this fashion, said a BDA official, who took part in the marathon meeting with the top officials of all departments.

The official said, "At present, land losers watch their land, sometimes in prime spots, being allotted to others, while they get compensatory sites in some far-off location. If at least 10-20% of the site is allotted to them on the land they lost, it would offer them satisfaction. To ensure justice, this system is being proposed." BDA Commissioner Kumar G Naik, who chaired the meeting, pushed for greater coordination among the different wings of BDA to facilitate better services to the public. "I took stock of the issues faced by the allottees of Arkavathy and Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout so that they can be redressed soon," he told TNIE. An official, present at the meeting, said, "The commissioner was keen that all our processes go online so that the public need not visit the BDA office in connection with any work."

Naik also asked all officials to come out with a blueprint to expedite all works done by BDA at the earliest.

WITHIN a month after a sinkhole exposed lapses in city infrastructure, another sinkhole was reported at Sri Sai Apartment in Gottigere ward.

Residents alleged that despite complaints to Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), officials are yet to take action. The residents have now filled up the 2-ft sinkhole.

Kishore Kumar V, a resident of Sri Sai Apartment of Gottigere ward, said the road developed a sinkhole, which has also damaged the water pipes.

water pipes, but BBMP is yet to take any action on the complaint. "We reached out to BBMP on the Sahaya app. As no one came from Palike, we deployed the housekeeping staff of the apartment and filled up the sinkhole using debris," said Kishore.

A BBMP engineer from the area said the road stretch falls under the Major Road department and so, the ward engineers cannot be held responsible for the sinkholes. Major Road BBMP engineer Ramesh was unavailable for comments. Members of BNP lashed out at BBMP for engaging in blame game, resulting in civic issues being ignored. "Over the last four months, many sinkhole have been reported. This was due to the shoddy work of the BBMP contractors and lack of supervision by the Palike engineers," said Poongothai from BNP.

BBMP faces contractors' heat over ₹200 cr dues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ALLEGING that Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike has failed to release Rs 200 crore even after three years of completion of work, contractors staged a massive protest on Tuesday at the BBMP headquarters in which contractors working with BBMP and Karnataka Rural Infrastructure Development Limited (KRIDL) participated.

Pratap B, a contractor, said that the BBMP has been using a PIL filed against KRIDL as an excuse to delay the payment. "We launched a protest at BBMP head office as works up to Rs 2 crore were executed through KRIDL as per rules, and the payment to more than 120 contractors amounting to Rs 200 crore is pending for years. Palike officials informed the police and got us arrested. We were released late in the evening," said Pratap.

The contractors said that after the works were completed, and it undergoes a quality test, the Bill Record (BR) will be entered online in the division office. And the site inspection of the files from the TVCC department will have to be completed. After all these processes are fulfilled, the payment of the bill is still pending.

"After a contractor completes the work and the bill is not paid, the financial situation of the contractor becomes grim," said the contractors.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that both BBMP and KRIDL are respondents in the PIL, and the Palike cannot give any assurances until the court gives any order. "If the court directs the Palike to make the payment, we will give it," he said.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

15TH February: The Sun and Moon are meeting up again. Actually, we are heading for one of the most interesting alignments of the year and it is likely to encourage volatile passions and uncontrollable feelings. That's the forecast. The advice is to be clear, cool and collected - and infinitely tolerant and flexible.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You can work with your horoscope, rather than waiting around while fate makes up your mind for you. The only way to cope successfully with your current transits is to build as broad a basis of support as you can. Your social relationships will act as a safety net, preserving you from a promised hard landing.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
I am sure that a loved one has been all too ready to pursue a cavalier approach. It has been easy to dodge personal issues by immersing yourself in work or some other worldly ambition, but perhaps you do now need to face up to intimate, deeply emotional questions.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Push yourself to the limit. The best estimation of your prospects indicates that you must make up for lost time in addition to coping with fresh responsibilities. Don't fall back on old excuses to avoid facing your destiny. Have courage, Gemini!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Certain doors may now have to be closed. I am not telling you to turn your back on opportunity, but I do think that you should be more selective in future. Concentrate your energy on areas which are bound to bring success, and avoid time-wasting offers.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You are almost certainly unaware of deeper planetary movements which are even now affecting the most hidden recesses of your psyche. But do be assured that for the rest of the year, authority, tradition and stability are the keywords in your personal life.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There's no rest for the wicked, as the old saying goes. There's no rest for you either, so you may as well recognise that relaxation will be in short supply. Keep your nose to the grindstone and get as much done as you can. The more you do now, the more time you'll have off later on.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
All you have to do is be yourself. Easy advice, I know. I also realise that this may be the hardest thing in the world to achieve, but there's no harm in trying, is there? The general planetary picture is very optimistic, so set off with a song in your heart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There's been a great deal of talk lately about the need to save face. This is a concept which means a great deal to you, and people you live with had better recognise this. The best way to placate you is to make you feel that you've won - even if you haven't!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Reassuring relationships connect Mars, Jupiter and other helpful planets. In plain language this means that personal relationships do vet all with overseas links. A perfect time for a long-distance trip perhaps? You should certainly pay special attention to all foreign connections.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The benevolent planet Jupiter balances the aggressive planet Mars. The result? Well, for a start, I'd say you're being set up for an increase in your earnings. Luck doesn't come in to it. Instead it's all thanks to your own hard work. Give yourself a pat on the back.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It will be a rare individual who doesn't recognise that every difficulty conceals a host of benefits. There is so much going for you at the moment that you may finally have your cake - and eat it! Other people may be envious of what they see, rightly or wrongly, as your good fortune.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There is good in everyone and a bright side to every offer. In many respects you will fare better than most people, if only because what is awkward for them comes perfectly naturally to you. May I remind you that this is no time for moral back-sliding, so stiffen that back-bone!

₹50K CR WORTH ORDERS IN PIPELINE; EGYPT, ARGENTINA SHOW INTEREST IN LCA, SETBACK IN MALAYSIA

HAL'S HANDS FULL WITH ₹84K CR ORDER BOOK

A Light Combat Aircraft Tejas on display at Aero India 2023 | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE order book of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) is full with orders of Rs 84,000 crore while another Rs 50,000 crore of orders are in the pipeline. HAL Chairman and Managing Director CB Ananthakrishnan said they are focusing on research and development so that they will be able to come up with more products.

"Atmanirbhar Bharat and the recent geopolitical situation has brought good tidings for the defence ecosystem of the country in general, and the HAL in particular. Today, we are in a very comfortable position. Our order book is very comfortable with orders of Rs 84,000 crore and our orders in the pipeline also stand at a very healthy figure of Rs 50,000 crore," he said.

On the 83 Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) Tejas Mark 1A aircraft contract that was signed in the last edition of Aero India, HAL has to deliver the first aircraft.

HAL officials said all the activities were running as per schedules and they were confident of meeting the delivery timelines.The defence PSU has also augmented the capacity of its LCA divisions to deliver the aircraft on time.

On the export front, Egypt and Argentina have shown interest in the homegrown LCA Tejas even as HAL is also trying to push the deal with Malaysia, despite some setbacks. The HAL is discussing with Argentina for 15 aircraft and proposing around 20 aircraft for Egypt.

Ananthakrishnan said they offered to help Egypt set up a local eco-system for LCA Tejas and Argentina was very happy about LCA and their air force team had also visited HAL.

The HAL CMD said the Tumakuru plant that was recently inaugurated is ready to produce Light Utility Helicopter (LUH) and Kamov helicopters.

In Malaysia, the LCA was one of the shortlisted fighters, and the HAL was hopeful of the contract. "(But) There has been a slight set-back there. We hear that South Koreans are likely to get the orders (for their T-50 light combat aircraft), but have not received anything yet in black-and-white. Notwithstanding that, we are making efforts," the CMD said.

Defence PSU HAL removed Lord Hanuman's image from the vertical fin of its trainer aircraft HLFT42 (Hindustan Lead Fighter Trainer). The aircraft model is displayed at the ongoing Aero India 2023. The image of Lord Hanuman was seen on the vertical fin of the aircraft on the first day of the air show on Monday. HAL Chairman and Managing Director CB Ananthakrishnan said they removed it after having an internal discussion on it. "We had put the sticker just to depict the power of the aircraft, but after an internal discussion, we decided not to have it, so we removed it. It was a simple thing, and was based on the previous trainer aircraft 'Marut'. But we saw some interpretations. The project is still in the initial stage and we only wanted to focus on the project," the CMD said.

CONCERNS OVER SUKHOI GROUNDING

On the IAF's concerns over recent grounding of many Sukhoi fighter jets, the HAL is making efforts to improve the repair and overhaul (RoH) facilities. The facility has been upgraded to handle 20 aircraft from earlier 12 aircraft for RoH and the turnaround time has been reduced from 30 months to 12 months. The HAL is taking all measures to ensure that AoG (aircraft on ground, basically 'grounded' aircraft) situation will not arise and improve serviceability, said HAL officials.

F-35 pulls crowds at its maiden Aero India

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of visitors and pilots of other aircraft stood under the scorching sun at the Yelahanka Air Force Station to witness fantastic manoeuvres of F-35s, which were flying for the first time at Aero India on Tuesday.

Even as pilots from India and other countries were busy making videos and taking photographs of the jets in action, spectators were cheering their every move. "I have been a regular at the air show since 2009. Each time, my favourite was F-16 and Suryakirans. But this time, I came to see the F-35 in action," said Puneeth M, who stood near the tarmac where the aircraft were parked to take photos and to interact with the pilots. Puneeth said he was trying to get in touch with the pilots on social media, but they refused to talk citing security reasons.

The highlight was the low flight of the supersonic jet. The F-35A Lightning II from Eielson Air Force Base in Alaska was on static display, while the one from Hill Air Force Base in Utah, USA, participated in the air display.

Major General Julian C Cheater, Air Force Assistant Deputy Under Secretary, International Affairs, said that the F-35 showcases leading technologies of the US aircraft. "We knew that the F-35 was here to make an impression on its maiden display. We were prepared for some action and thrills, but this is amazing. But other aircraft are no competition to us. We can learn some tricks from them, but now it will be a competition," said one of the pilots, not wanting to be identified.

DRDO pushes for indigenous radar in Indian combat fleet

MAYANK SINGH @Bengaluru

IN the push to equip india's combat fighter fleet with an indigenous radar, DRDO plans to configure all fighter aircraft of the Indian Air Force and the Indian Navy with indigenously designed and developed Uttam Radar system active electronically scanned array (AESA) in next two years.

In the process, Light Combat Aircraft, which is manufactured by Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL), will be the first set of fighter jets to be fitted with this system in next six months.

Talking to TNIE, Director General - Electronics & Communication Systems (ECS) at DRDO BK Das said: "All around the country we were having imported radar systems. When we talk about the fighters without a radar the fighter is aimless. So we are totally dependent on a system which is imported. Today, our lab LRDE has come up to an extent that we have developed our own radar system that is Uttam." The Defence Ministry has placed import of radar system in the negative list.

Post the LCA Tejas MK1, the advance fighter jets like Sukhoi-30MKI and Mig-29 will be integrated with the radar system. The process of integration of Uttam on these platforms would begin by 2025.

As far as the timeline is concerned, he said: "Another six months to one year we are going to map it with the LCA Mk1."

Def minister dedicates e-MMS

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@ Bengaluru

ACCELERATING IAF's transformation towards emerging as a modern combat force, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Tuesday dedicated the Electronic Maintenance Management System (e-MMS) to the nation, in the presence of Chief of Air Staff, Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari, and Chief of Army Staff, General Manoj Pande.

e-MMS aims to replace IAF's 90-year-old system where records of maintenance of aircraft and equipment were paper-based. This indigenous enterprise asset management and resource planning solution will digitise and automate the process.

IAF operates an array of aircraft, weapons and systems. IAF has adapted these different weapon systems into a common thread to support multi-dimensional operations, allowing for quicker tactical response.

e-MMS rides on AFNET (high-speed communications network), ensuring continuous availability of the application across all sites. It also extends a mobility feature, where each technician will have a wireless device to record maintenance activities, ensuring transparency, accountability and efficiency. All maintenance data is centrally monitored. This not only records all activities electronically, but also provides analytical capability for operational purposes. e-MMS solution has been derived in collaboration with Wipro.

At IAF's indegisation seminar INDISEM 2023, Rajnath said: "We have been importing a large part of our helicopters, aircraft, missile systems, etc. But I feel happy that the situation has begun to change."

"We need to periodically induct new weapon platforms and weapon systems. This will predominantly be through the indigenous route as part of the Make in India initiative. We will need to upgrade our slightly older fleet, weapons and systems on a regular basis. Legacy systems will continue to be part of our arsenal. Sustenance of these legacy fleets and equipment is a big challenge, and it is here that our indigenous industry, MSMEs and startups contribute towards the upgradation of our combat systems," said Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari.

INDIA DOES NOT BELIEVE IN GIVING SERMONS TO OTHERS IN NEED: RAJNATH

CHETAN MG @ Bengaluru

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh called upon defence ministers from friendly countries for greater cooperation to deal with fast-paced changes in an increasingly complex global security scenario.

Addressing Defence & Deputy Defence Ministers of 27 countries at the Defence Ministers' Conclave themed 'Shared Prosperity through Enhanced Engagements in Defence' (SPEED) as part of Aero India 2023 on Tuesday, Singh said: "In the past, the place, the pace of change in circumstance was slow and mostly had only a local impact. But today any major changes in the domain of economy, security, health and climate have global reverberations. When peace and security of any region are threatened, the entire world feels the impact in multiple ways."

He said geopolitical and security realities are shifting at hitherto unwitnessed speed. "To respond to such fast-paced change, we have to collaborate in real-time," he said, pointing out that collective security is a sine qua non for prosperity and the need to devise new strategies to counter threats like terrorism.

Stating that there are nations which are richer, militarily or technologically more advanced than others, but it does not give them the right to dictate their solutions to the nations in need of support, Rajnath said this top-down approach towards solving problems has never been sustainable in the long run and it often leads to a debt trap, reaction from the local population, conflict and so on.

Reaffirming India's stand for a rules-based international order, Rajnath asserted that untethered to any faction or alliance of one group of nations against another, India has worked ceaselessly for the upliftment of all nations, especially developing ones. "We consider all nations as equal partners. That is why we do not believe in imposing external or supra national solutions to a country's internal problems. We do not believe in giving sermons or cut-and-dried solutions, which do not respect the national values and constraints of the countries in need of assistance. Rather, we support the capacity building of our partner countries, so that they may chart out their own destiny, in accordance with their own genius," he said. Further, he said India offers an enhanced defence partnership to friendly foreign nations. "We offer a partnership that is accommodative of the national priorities and capacities. We want to build with you, we want to launch with you, we want to create with you, and we want to develop with you. We wish to create a symbiotic relationship with which we can learn from each other, grow together and create a win-win situation for all," Rajnath said.

Over 160 delegates from several countries, including 15 Defence and Service Chiefs and 12 Permanent Secretaries from 80 countries participated in the conclave.

'Work on to manufacture indigenous aero-engines'

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said that the Ministry of Defence (MoD) is currently working on manufacturing indigenous aero-engines. Speaking at the 'Indigenous Development of Futuristic Aerospace Technologies including Way Forward for Development of Indigenous Aero Engines' seminar, organised by the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) and Aeronautical Research and Development Board (AR&DB) at Aero India 2023, he said manufacturing these engines indigenously would help India achieve self-reliance in aerospace and defence sectors. He said the focus should be on building technology indigenously, especially in areas vital to weapon systems like that of drones, stealth and artificial intelligence. He said DRDO should encourage startups to help in research and development (R&D). "DRDO is no longer just a service provider for defence R&D. It is now also a facilitator for in-house industrial R&D, startups and private sector labs," he added. Rajnath handed over the Health Usage and Monitoring System, developed and built by DRDO for the MiG29K -- a multi-role fighter aircraft currently in use by the Indian Naval Air Arm, to Vice Chief of the Naval Staff Vice Admiral Satish Namdeo Ghormade.

B-1B flies in from Pacific to surprise Aero India

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@ Bengaluru

THE sky above Air Force Station Yelahanka on Tuesday welcomed the arrival of two Rockwell B-1B Lancers of the US Air Force, from their temporary duty location at Andersen Air Force Base in Guam in the Pacific Ocean.

This is the second time that the large strategic bomber is making a presence at Aero India, highlighting the growing ties between the US and India. According to a note from the US foreign office, "In a historic moment for US and Indian aviation enthusiasts, on February 3, 2021, the B-1B landed in India for the first time and conducted a fly-by on the inaugural day of Aero India 2021, escorted by an Indian Air Force Tejas fighter. Commonly called the 'Bone' (for 'B-one'), the return of the long-range, supersonic, heavy bomber to India to participate in Aero India 2023 underscores the importance the United States places on the growing strategic partnership with India."

A strategic bomber is a medium to long-range penetration bomber aircraft which is used to drop large amounts of air-to-ground weapons onto distant targets. Currently, only the US, Russia and China operate such aircraft. According to reports, India might be looking at operating strategic bombers, and Russia could be keen on tapping that interest with its Tupolev Tu-160. Meanwhile, the B-1B has had an illustrious tenure, having served on missions in Kosovo, Afghanistan and Iraq, among other conflict zones. As of 2021, the USAF operates 45 B-1Bs.

Rockwell B-1B Lancers of the US Air Force enthrall audience at Aero India 2023 on Tuesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Rear Admiral Michael Baker, Senior Defense Official and Defense Attaché at the US Embassy in New Delhi, said, "We are happy to have the B1 in India for the second time. These bombers made the journey from South Dakota to Guam and then to India just to add another exciting dimension to Aero India 2023. It's a long mission to travel from the continental US to the Indian Ocean; but it was worth it to be part of the biggest air show in the region hosted by our major defence partner, India. The US and India continue to deepen defense cooperation. We have two great militaries that are even better when we work together."

Coast Guard looks to emerging tech for stronger maritime surveillance

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@ Bengaluru

WITH a formidable coastline of 7,516 Km that makes protecting it paramount as much as challenging, the Indian Coast Guard is scouting for emerging technologies to boost its maritime surveillance against sea-based intruders.

Addressing a seminar on 'Advancements in Maritime Surveillance Systems & Assets — A Key to Optimised Operations at Sea' at Aero India 2023, Coast Guard Commander (Western Seaboard), Additional Director General KR Suresh, said "The future of maritime surveillance assets and systems will be characterised by increased use of realtime technology, automation and satellite-based and unmanned vehicles, integration of enhanced effectiveness and efficiency of our operations... Cooperation and collaboration will play an instrumental role in economics and optimising operations."

Some key responsibilities of Coast Guard in maritime protection responsibilities include: Protection of artificial islands and offshore terminals, protection of fishermen, protection of marine environment, prevention of marine pollution, assisting the Customs and other authorities in anti-smuggling activities, enforcement of maritime laws, etc. In all this, emerging technologies will play a vital role in not only managing situations, but also preempting them.

ENGRAV Aviation Services & Systems MD S Padmakumar, said, "The current focus of maritime surveillance is to see what's out there — detection, and what it's doing — and tracking, and its identification. Significant technological advances have been made. Several onboard sensors, radars, electro-optical and infrared sensors, UAVs, underwater autonomous systems, all are there to detect and track. The challenge, however, is to see if everything at sea can be detected," he said.

> The future of maritime surveillance assets and systems will be characterised by increased use of realtime technology, automation and satellite-based and unmanned vehicles, integration of enhanced effectiveness and efficiency of our operations... — Coast Guard Commander (Western Seaboard), Additional Director General KR Suresh

"For instance, small boats could move undetected. For identification, there are automated identification systems, which, however, can be manipulated to provide false information. Even if anything is detected and tracked, it does not reveal the real intent of any perpetrator... and then, what should be the response strategy - reactive, proactive, deterrent, etc. All this large volume of operational data could clutter decision-making," he elucidated.

"Emerging technologies could help address this. If data can be brought in, the different machine learning algorithms and AI engines can handle the analytics part. It can be Descriptive — what is happening right now; Diagnostic — why it is happening; Predictive — if it remains so, what will happen; and Prescriptive — what is the need of the hour. It has to be an integrated approach involving sea and air assets, onboard sensors, and even satellites... This is probably a way forward for a futuristic, maritime preemptive response. A transformation from a reactive maritime surveillance doctrine to a preemptive one, which would need an integrated bottom-up and holistic approach."

A city court on Tuesday sentenced HS Shankar, food inspector, department of food and civil supplies and Consumer Affairs, to undergo three years imprisonment and pay a fine of Rs 25,000. SC/ST Act: HC pulls up CM-led panel for not meeting even once

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday pulled up the State Government for failing to hold a single meeting of the High Power Vigilance and Monitoring Committee, headed by the chief minister, in 2022, to monitor the effective implementation of the provisions of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. As per Rule 16 of the Act, at least two meetings should be held in a year.

"The state government cannot be a mute spectator when the Act says that at least two statutory meetings should be held in a calendar year. Not conducting a single meeting in a year is certainly not in compliance of the assurance given to this court. We expect that the state government in future would not commit such laxity and will strictly adhere to the provisions of the Atrocities Act and Rules", said a division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi.

IN THE HC

The court was hearing two public interest litigations (PIL) filed by Parishista Jaathi/Parishista Pangadagala Melvicharane matthu Balavardhana Sangha and advocate S Umapathy.

The court had directed the state government to hold the two meetings in January and July. However, the state convened a single meeting in the 2021. In 2022 and in 2023, no meeting has been held so far.

The court pointed out that the approach of the state government clearly showed that it was conducting and convening the meeting as and when it wished, ignoring the statutory provisions of the Act and Rules. "In our opinion, that the authorities have prepared a chart in a hurried manner so as to show that they are complying with the provisions of the Act in relation to the payment of compensation in cases of atrocities and other issues. The chart, instead of answering the questions, raises more questions", the court observed, while giving time to the government to file a proper response.

Hit-and-run case: 31-yr-old arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE KR Puram traffic police on Tuesday arrested a 31-year-old car driver involved in a hit-and-run case. The incident happened at 10.40pm on Saturday on TC Palya Main Road.

The accused has been identified as Purushotham, a resident of Akshay Nagar.

In the hit-and-run, three motorists, including a woman, had sustained multiple injuries. Of them, two are being treated as in-patients in different hospitals. The injured are identified as Shyam, Chetan and Suma

Suma was riding her two-wheeler on TC Palya Main Road from Kalkere towards Aneppa Circle. The accused while driving his hatchback from Anandapura Circle towards Raghavendra Circle initially hit the biker identified as Shyam. Then he went on to hit Chetan, who was on his two-wheeler after parking it on the roadside. Finally, the accused hit the two-wheeler of Suma and fled from the spot. All the three motorists sustained injuries in the accident.

Of the three, Shyam and Suma are undergoing treatment as in-patients. The KR Puram traffic police who have registered a case identified the car along with its registration number by checking the CCTV footage in the vicinity. The KR Puram traffic police arrested the accused on late Tuesday evening. Further investigations are on.

Guru Raghavendra co-op bank scam probe to be handed over to CBI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

COOPERATION Minister ST Somasekhar said that all preparations have been made to hand over the Sri Guru Raghavendra Sahakara Bank Niyamita (SGRSBN) scam case to the CBI for investigation, and the Home department will soon take an appropriate decision.

Replying to Congress MLC U B Venkatesh during question hour in the Council, the minister said the CID, cooperation department and Enforcement Directorate (ED) have investigated the scam and detected fraud to the tune of Rs 1290 crore so far. Since the CID was conducting the investigation, handing the case to the CBI was delayed, he clarified.

UB Venkatesh expressed concern as the property of the borrower cannot be confiscated from the bank, because the documents given for mortgage at the bank belonged to someone else.

MAN WHO SET FIRE TO PAWN SHOP HELD

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Girinagar police claim to have arrested the person who had set fire to a pawn shop after the shopowner refused to give the money as demanded by the accused for the pledged gold. The accused had returned with a plastic bottle with petrol and poured it inside the shop and set it on fire.The accused has been identified as Basavaraj. He had set fire to Thulasi Abharan pawn shop located in Muneshwara Block at 10am on Sunday. The shopowner, 54-year-old Bhavar Lal, who had also sustained minor burns, had filed a complaint with the Girinagar police.

The police managed to arrest the accused in Nelamangala on Monday. Both the accused and the victim are known to each other.

The accused had demanded Rs 50,000 for gold which he had pledged. After Lal refused to pay money as demanded by the accused, the latter started fighting.

In the heated argument, the accused walked out of the shop and returned with a plastic bottle with petrol. He then splashed the petrol inside the shop and set it on fire. Residents helped Lal by putting out the fire. The accused was remanded in judicial custody on Tuesday. Further investigations are on.

Tax dept draws up plan for higher revenue

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

AS the state government prepares for the budget, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has encouragingly referred to revenue collection, saying, "Karnataka continues to be the state with the highest growth rate of 30 per cent. This year's remarkable mop-up is due to measures undertaken for reforms, focused vigilance, recovery in economy and better compliance by taxpayers. This augmentation will allow the government to present a better budget this year."

Karnataka, with Rs 1,01,489 crore annual collection, compared to Rs 77,888 crore last year, is the second highest revenue generating state after Maharashtra. The commercial taxes department has been the biggest contributor to the budget. Commercial Taxes Commissioner C Shikha, speaking about six steps taken for better revenue augmentation, said, "In view of the additional collection target given by the state government, and compensation guaranteed to the states having come to an end, the Commercial Taxes department devised a plan of action to augment revenue."

RUN-UP TO BUDGET 2023-24

The department delegated adjudication powers to assistant commissioners and commercial tax officers, redeployed officers to areas having good revenue potential to ensure optimum revenue collection. Another measure involved an elaborate exercise where non-filers were categorised into top, middle and lower categories, based on turnovers of the previous periods, and notices were issued to ensure filing of returns for timely realisation of tax. The department also used IT tools extensively.

"System based analytics was done to identify cases for scrutiny, and notices were issued. IT analytical tools under GST Prime were used for detecting cases having discrepancies," Shikha said.

She explained that the department had collected valuable intelligence inputs from various states, used E-waybill analytics and Business Intelligence & Fraud Analytics (BIFA) to identify bogus taxpayers and initiated action to prevent creation of a cartel of fake claims. In addition to this, the department had painstakingly rolled out 25 documentaries to ensure that taxpayers are better informed.

BJP calls for LP meet today, to discuss budget passage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP, which has called for a legislature party meeting at 7pm Wednesday at The Capitol Hotel, is likely to discuss strategies to ensure the budget is passed without a hitch. The budget is expected to be presented on Friday.

Considering this is an election year and there is bound to be strong opposition to the budget from the Congress and JDS, sources said legislators would be told to be present in full strength. It is likely to be the last legislature party meeting, considering elections are expected to be announced in March.

There is talk that the session could be concluded on February 23, so that legislators can head back to their constituencies. MLAs of both the ruling and opposition parties are under pressure to focus on their constituencies and attend to ongoing works and programmes. Many have expressed their inability to attend the entire session, and informed their party leadership too.

The BJP would be seeking passage for a vote-on-account and other bills they will take up. Sources said many legislators have suggested that business be wound up early. BJP general secretary Ravi Kumar said, "Everyone understands the business of the House is sacrosanct and the LP meeting will discuss important issues."

Scholar ends life at IIT Madras

Another student, from Karnataka, found unconscious in his room on campus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

IN two separate incidents in IIT-Madras, a research scholar allegedly killed himself on Monday night and a first-year B Tech student allegedly attempted to end his life in the institute hostel room on Monday. He is currently undergoing treatment at a hospital, police said.

The deceased, Stephen Sunny, 27, a native of Maharashtra, was a second-year MS Research scholar in the electrical engineering department. According to police, Sunny returned to his hostel room on the campus on Monday afternoon.

Stephen Sunny

His friends grew suspicious after Sunny failed to open the door even after they repeatedly knocked on his room.

"They informed the hostel warden, broke open the door, found him dead, and informed the police," a senior police officer said. The Kotturpuram police registered a case and sent his body to the Royapettah Government Hospital for postmortem. Police said Sunny has not left behind any suicide note and he may have taken the extreme step due to personal reasons. Police seized his laptop and mobile phone and a probe is on.

A few hours earlier, around 5.30pm, the Kotturpuram police received another call about a student being found unconscious in his room on the campus. According to police, the 22-year-old first-year B Tech student from Karnataka returned to his hostel room around 12.30pm on Monday.

"His friends, who returned to the room at 5pm, found that the door was locked from the inside and the victim did not respond to repeated knocks or phone calls," a police officer said. They broke open the door and found him lying unconscious on the floor. He was rushed to a private hospital, where he is currently being treated. After preliminary investigations, police said he was allegedly depressed for the past few weeks.

GUV'S SPEECH FULL OF LIES: SIDDU

Bengaluru: Slamming the BJP government, Leader of Opposition Siddaramiah on Tuesday said the government is trying to spread lies through the governor's speech. He said in the last 40 years as legislator in the house, he has never seen such a worse speech by the governor. Siddaramiah said the BJP came is full of lies. Their statements or works are far from reality. The governor's speech should have backsight and foresight. "The BJP has been in power for the last four years. The governor's speech should have aspects covering development works, financial status and many more. But there was no such information, but lies," he said.

BJP will use election brahmastras that fit each region, says Vijayendra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister B S Yediyurappa's son and BJP state vice-president B Y Vijayendra, who has been assigned multiple tasks in the run-up to elections, said the BJP national leadership will use all strategies apt for a particular region, to win the assembly polls in Karnataka.

"To win the polls, all 'brahmastras' (weapons) have to be utilised, that is the Chanakya tantra which our state and national leaders will choose for a particular region. Our responsibility is to be successful in the work we are assigned," he said, to a query whether the BJP will go with Hindutva or development agenda in the polls.

Vijayendra's tasks include ensuring the party wins more seats in Old Mysuru region, and conducting various samaveshas across the 224 assembly segments.

Briefing the press at the party office here on Tuesday, he said a Yuva Morcha samavesha will be held in Mandya on February 20, and other samaveshas will be held across the state, and end on March 15.

The party created history in the KR Pet assembly bypolls, and is now focusing on Old Mysuru as it aims to win 140-150 assembly seats, he said.

On opposition parties trying capitalise on Yediyurappa bidding a tearful adieu when he stepped down as chief minister, Vijayendra said they can try to misguide the people but Yediyurappa would give a fitting response at the right time. Issues such as minister R Ashoka being removed as Mandya district in-charge will be addressed by the leadership, he maintained.

Plan to reach 2 crore voters

The party plans to register 50 lakh members through missed calls on the party's official phone number, besides reaching out to 2 crore voters. Central leaders, including Karnataka incharge Dharmendra Pradhan, Bhupender Yadav, Nirmala Sitharaman, Smriti Irani and others will be roped in for samaveshas across the state.

The party will activate the Yuva Morcha, SC Morcha, ST Morcha, OBC Morcha, Mahila Morcha, Raita Morcha and Minority Morcha.

JDS MLC demands probe into land allotment to Brigade Group

The budget session in progress at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Tuesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JDS MLC Marithibbe Gowda has demanded a probe into the allotment of 10 acres of land to Brigade real estate group to build houses for the poor in Devanahalli's Hi-Tech Defence Aerospace Park in two phases. Raising the issue in the Legislative Council, Gowda said rules were not followed while giving the land under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban) Mission to the group.

He alleged that many eligible industrialists were bypassed while allotting the land and the government too has incurred losses. Replying to the allegation, Minister for Large and Medium Industries Murugesh Nirani clarified that while allocating land to industrialists, 15 per cent of the allotted land is allowed to be used to build necessary housing for those working in industries to live nearby and to build hospitals, educational institutions and other facilities.

"Similarly, 25 acres of land has been allotted twice to the Brigade group. The land was given in 2002. Of that, 15 per cent is being used to build houses, a hospital and a school, and the target is to build 11 towers, of which seven have already been built. Fifty acres of land has been given to those who work there and not to build houses for the poor", he explained.

He also clarified that the land has been given to the group to set up skill development institution and it has not been given free of cost as the money they owed to the government was collected. "There was no violation of any rule in this regard", he asserted. But Gowda said if everything was fine then why was a notice issued to the Brigade Group to get back five acres of the allotted land and why was the contract signed nine years after the allotment of land. "The houses that were built were sold to the rich and not to the workers," he alleged, and demanded a probe.

Nirani maintained that since the skill development institute was not constructed on the five acres given in 2012, the notice was issued but there were no irregularities in allotment of houses built for the workers.

However, when Gowda demanded more time for a detailed debate, it led to a furore, as the Leader of the House Kota Srinivasa Pujari and members of the ruling BJP YA Narayanaswamy and Tejaswinigowda raised objections.

'Heated' argument ensues over group photo for MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the 15th term of the Karnataka Legislative Assembly is coming to an end, the House on Tuesday witnessed a "heated" discussion over taking a group photo of all MLAs in front of Vidhana Soudha. The ongoing session will conclude on February 24, and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will present the budget at 10.15 am on February 17.

Announcing the decision taken at the Business Advisory Committee (BAC) that met on Tuesday, Kageri said they decided to conclude the legislature session on February 24. He urged all MLAs to be present on February 21 for the group photo. "This is the last session of this term and this photo will remain in our memory forever. If there is any event at your constituency, or any appointment, postpone it," he said.

But some MLAs said they cannot be present as they have pre-scheduled engagements. When Kageri personally insisted that Leader of Opposition Siddaramiah be present, the latter said he will speak on budget on February 20 and leave. Later, Kageri and others decided to advance the photo session to February 20.

Kageri said that as per the committee's meeting, legislators will be allowed to speak on the Governor's address till Wednesday and on Thursday, Bommai will reply to the House.

CARCASS OF MALE TIGER FOUND IN TUMAKURU

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Hubballi

FOR many years there has been a debate over the presence of tigers in Tumakuru district, but the speculation was put to an end on Tuesday after the carcass of a male tiger, aged about six years, was found in the district.

The tiger was found dead in an empty water pipeline on the road located in Ankasandra Reserve Forest in Gubbi taluk of Tumakuru. The villagers, who found the tiger in the pipe, alerted the forest officials.

A detailed postmortem and combing operation to search for pugmarks and scats was taken up in the area to ascertain any signs of other big cats. On Tuesday evening, the tiger carcass was burnt and organ samples were sent to the laboratory. Senior forest officials said that the cause of the death can be ascertained only after the postmortem report.

The tiger carcass has baffled the wildlife experts and forest officials who are trying to trace its journey to Tumakuru. Wildlife experts feel that the tiger may have strayed out from either Bhadra Tiger Reserve, which is 132 km away, or the Bannerghatta National Park near Bengaluru, which is about 136 km from the site where the carcass was found.

There have been no tiger sightings in Tumakuru for many years. Though there have been cases of tiger sightings in some parts, there were no photographic or video evidence. In 2006, during the national tiger census, tiger pugmarks were found in Devarayanadurga forest in Tumakuru.

B V Gundappa, a wildlife conservationist from Tumakuru, said there have been a number of tiger sightings in Tumakuru in the past. "Retired forest official Dr U V Singh was the first to sight tigers in Tumakuru in 1997. After that there were a number of sightings by villagers, passengers and forest officials. But there were no photo documents to prove the presence of tigers. Now the tiger has been found dead near a reserve forest in Tumakuru. The camera trapping experiment should be extended to the forest areas of Tumakuru to record wildlife activity," he said.

CURB DROPOUT RATES, BUT DON'T LOWER THE BAR FOR STUDENTS

Karnataka has a worrying issue on its hands in the form of the high school dropout rate. In an attempt to arrest this, the Karnataka Administrative Reforms Commission-2, headed by retired chief secretary T M Vijay Bhaskar, has come up with a number of recommendations, among which is lowering the pass marks for SSLC (Class 10) and Pre-University (PU) exams. The Commission highlighted that the pass percentage in SSLC and PU examinations in Karnataka is much lower when compared with neighbouring states. The numbers paint a surprisingly dark picture for a progressive state which is known to be a hub of education and for its scientific institutions: the dropout rate between elementary and secondary stage is nearly 18%, while the dropout rate between the secondary and higher secondary stage is 34%, putting the total dropout rate at 52%. The report also pointed out that the Gross Enrolment Ratio in PU education in Karnataka is 52.1%, as against 83% in Kerala, 73.2% in Tamil Nadu, 67% in Maharashtra, 57.2% in Telangana and 52.2% in Andhra Pradesh.

In its report, the Commission put forth a number of suggestions to improve the pass percentage and dropout rate, like changing to multiple choice question (MCQ) pattern, internal assessment for Arts and Commerce students, giving grace marks, provision to write exams in both Kannada and English for PU, and having second supplementary exams for Class 10 and 12. Among the most drastic measures is reducing pass marks for SSLC theory exam from 28 to 15 or 20.

While this step could bring down academic stress and encourage children to continue with studies, it can only be a stop-gap measure. By bringing the bar down so low, the authorities are only doing the students a disservice that will leave them crippled when they step out into the real world. Instead of building an education ecosystem which promotes equity among students, they are ensuring that it will lead to more discrimination and promotion of the reservation system. Modern educationists may argue that marks are just numbers and do not reflect learning, but our mass education system is yet to evolve, and scoring marks keeps the competitive spirit alive. The percentile system continues to define professional examinations, and hence, career paths. What our education setup needs is a thorough reassessment, besides heavy funding and incentives to poor families to help students complete their education.

JAMA'AT-E-ISLAMI AND THE SPACE OF DIALOGUE

Jama'at-e-Islami and other Muslim organisations, which engaged the RSS in a dialogue in New Delhi last month, have risked a lot for establishing an atmosphere of mutual trust and co-existence in the country. Soon after the news about the meeting came out, the detractors of the Jama'at went after it hammer and tongs, alleging that the organisation had surrendered before 'fascist forces' while some of its sympathisers argued that the deliberations should have been avoided, especially in the present circumstances. But it is heartening to see that the emotional outbursts have not deterred the Jama'at leadership from pursuing its well-thought-out plan. In fact, such interventions are not new to the organisation. Its leaders in Kerala rushed to Marad, a coastal region in Kozhikode, when nine persons were massacred on May 2, 2003, braving the hostile environment in the communally volatile area.

The move from Jama'at and like-minded organisations is a welcome gesture when the chasm between communities is widening day by day, posing a serious threat to the country's peace and tranquility. The hate agenda of hawks, who are not in shortage on either side, can only thrive by keeping the communal cauldron boiling. There were some posts on social media that branded the Jama'at as a 'traitor'. But Jama'at has chosen to ignore such insinuations and has asserted that the dialogues will continue. Its national general secretary T Arif Ali has said it is unwise to take a position that there will be no discussions with an organisation that is controlling the Central government. No one expects any miracle from the dialogue between the two groups that are at opposite poles, but talks have an important role to play in any democratic, pluralistic setup. The issues raised by the RSS and the Muslim organisations in the discussion are too complex to be solved in one go. They have legal, administrative and religious ramifications. But, sitting together across a table would be the first step towards creating a favourable atmosphere.

To build on the goodwill achieved by the dialogue, it is imperative to rein in the hatemongers and rabble-rousers, who could spoil the entire process. It would be difficult for the Jama'at to convince the community of the need for continuing the talks if the naysayers continue to be belligerent and aggressive.

QUICK TAKE

UNCHECKED GIRL-TRAFFICKING

Police recently arrested a Gurgaon couple for torturing and sexually assaulting a minor domestic help from Jharkhand. The sleep-deprived girl carried deep scars and injuries. She is one of the thousands of victims awaiting rescue in cities like Delhi. Organised touts lure minor girls from Jharkhand in the name of gainful employment. They are 'rented' out as helps, poorly treated, underpaid, starved or disallowed to return home. The traffickers operate without fear. The authorities must explain their failure in smashing these operations, which are reportedly underwritten by collusion and high patronage. Trafficking underaged girls is illegal and amounts to slavery.

When Covid was posing several challenges to the Indian economy, Modi gave a clarion call for Atmanirbhar Bharat

PM'S COURAGE OF CONVICTION AND COMMITMENT

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

President, ICCR and senior BJP leader

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's reply to the debate on the motion of thanks to the President's Address was, as expected, full of confidence. This was the confidence of a Karta, the doer of a large joint family. He very clearly outlined how during his tenure of over eight years he has untiringly worked to add great value to the governance of this country. His attack on the mudslinging of the opposition was also extraordinarily sharp. He minced no words in holding a mirror to the opposition, especially the Congress. However, what was most striking was his 'courage of conviction' that made him go on the offensive and puncture the collective indulgence of the opposition parties in baseless allegation-mongering.

Such courage of conviction comes when a leader works resolutely on some specific agenda. Only one who has a dream can work to make it a reality. Thanks to the purity of purpose that goes with him, PM Modi was able to talk about the protective shield of 140 million Indians so very confidently. His direct connect with the people of India has made him move forward unhesitatingly. One may ask, what is the source of his courage of conviction? How can he boldly take on the opposition with a 'catch the bull by horn' approach, so effortlessly? The answer to this question lies in his very own foundational philosophy behind his governance. Remember, philosophy provides one a strong basis and when one is confident about the correctness of the same, courage of conviction automatically comes.

One can trace the Gangotri of PM Modi's courage of conviction to the days when he started his campaign as BJP's prime ministerial candidate back in 2013–14. It all started with a simple mantra, 'Development and Good Governance'. Like a seasoned physician, he had rightly diagnosed that the aspirational New India was in fact yearning for its simple expectations from the government, rightly articulated in the term 'Development and Good Governance'. Popular resonance with these twin promises bolstered his confidence and then there was literally no looking back.

Again, close to the voting for Lok Sabha elections, Narendra Modi brought further clarity by explaining his roadmap to achieve the twin objectives of Development and Good Governance. And then came the formulae: 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas'. This silenced his usual critics and halted their pet practice of casting aspersions. And see the progressive unfoldment that happened later. In 2019, he added 'Sabka Vishwas' and last Independence Day, he also spoke of 'Sabka Prayaas'. PM Modi, even when he was the CM of Gujarat, always spoke about government-people partnership for making development a popular movement. The latest suffix of 'Sabka Prayaas' is his way of reminding all fellow citizens that each one and everyone needs to contribute through their efforts.

And contribute for what? For making India a Vikasit Bharat, a developed nation. Modi himself thinks big and disallows countrymen to be shortsighted and needlessly complacent. The ambitious goal of 'Ek Bharat, Shreshtha Bharat', which is 'Integrated India, Great India' is again his style of reminding people that India's greatness depends upon India's oneness. People in a fragmented society cannot make their nation great—this is what he wanted to underscore.

Remember, when Covid-19 was posing several challenges to the Indian economy, he gave a clarion call for Atmanirbhar Bharat, a self-reliant India. This was both a statement of his government's policy direction as also an earnest appeal to the people to try and help the nation free itself from its dependence on other countries. On several occasions he made it amply clear that the concept of Atmanirbharata was not about being self-centred. It was about rushing to help other countries after we as a nation are standing on our own legs. His foresight and confidence in Indian scientists was evident when less than a year later, he unveiled what we now know as 'vaccine diplomacy'. Known for his extremely thoughtful messages, the timing that he selects to convey them and the terms chosen, are all a case study in Communication Leadership. The world today is in the Attention Economy era and communication that catches the imagination of the people has gained centrality. Last Independence Day, he spoke of five pledges or Panch Pran, all indisputable and easy to understand. How can one object to his appeal:

Firstly, we need to stop being happy with the Developing Country status and start aspiring for a Vikasit Bharat. While talking about Vikasit Bharat, he was underscoring the need for advancing with greater conviction and the determination of a truly developed India. Second, to remove any trace of a colonial mindset. Mindful of the fact that our civilisational journey has always been from the past, through the present and to the future, he also very creatively instituted two commemorative days to remember two great sacrifices. One is the Partition Remembrance Day on every August 14, just like the Holocaust Day in some countries. The other is the Veer Bal Divas on December 26, commemorating the unparalleled sacrifice and dedication of four sahibzades, the brave sons of Guru Gobind Singh. As described by the PM himself, Veer Bal Divas should serve as "a fitting tribute to the courage of the Sahibzades" and their steadfast adherence to "the noble principles of Dharma".

The other three pledges proposed by him are also in perfect sync with his thought process. The eternal relevance of these three other pledges—to be proud of our roots, consolidating the nation's unity, and discharging our duties as citizens—comes like fundamentals of an indisputable agenda of government-citizen partnership.

To sum up, PM Narendra Modi's abundant self-confidence is the result of his courage of conviction. His unshakable conviction about the doctrinal foundation of his government and his unquestionable commitment to the same gives him the impregnable shield. Not even a single particle of mud can stick to him due to the teflon cover that his integrity, his perseverance and his globally inspirational leadership has earned him.

MANUFACTURING C-295 TO AMP UP INDIA'S DEFENCE INDUSTRIAL BASE

RAHUL K BHONSLE

Military veteran and Director, Security Risks Asia

India's defence and security paradigm is regulated by two constants. First, the dynamic threat environment with an external and internal dimension. The sine qua non is a robust force development. The second is India's dependency on the import of arms and munitions for capability building of the armed forces. A large and professional military has successfully evaded existential challenges to India's security so far, but this has been at the cost of precious human lives given that soldiers, sailors and airmen are fighting with "what they have" and not reliable, state-of-the-art weapons to face the enemy. Moreover, the nature of the external threat is changing, with a rapidly modernising People's Liberation Army (PLA) fielding indigenous Chinese weapons and equipment.

Over the years, governments across the board in India have attempted to indigenise the armed forces and create a domestic defence industrial base with varied success.

In recent years, after the launch of the Atmanirbhar Bharat in defence production, egged on by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, many initiatives have been taken by the defence ministry: Positive Indigenisation Lists which proscribe acquisition of specified weapons from abroad, expanding public-private and indigenous-foreign interface, and corporatisation of Ordnance Factories, among others. What was lacking was the tangible creation of a manufacturing line for public visibility as a mark of success of the initiatives.

Towards this end, laying the foundation stone of the C-295MW Aircraft Manufacturing Facility late last year by PM Modi in Vadodara, Gujarat, is a seminal development heralding a new chapter in indigenous defence production for several reasons. But first, brief details of the C-295MW, an upgraded version of the aircraft manufactured by erstwhile CASA and presently Airbus Defence and Space, Spain.

The aircraft is a new-generation tactical transport capable of a maximum load of seven tonnes, with the desired tactical load of troops or paratroopers, casualty evacuation, and can be modified and used for aerial refueling.

The C-295 can operate from short, unprepared airstrips, an essential requirement for landing in the border areas. Sustainable Aviation Fuel (SAF) being developed will reduce the carbon footprint.

The C-295's present order book has 285 aircraft, and it is in service in Spain, Egypt, Poland, Canada, Brazil, Mexico, and Portugal and has seen operational service in Afghanistan and Iraq.

Indian Air Force (IAF) requirements for light- to medium-lift fixed-wing aircraft vary between 160 to 200 or so. Given the 365-day maintenance support for the Indian armed forces extending from the high Himalayas to the desert and Andaman and Nicobar, air-based logistics support is imperative in peacetime. These aircraft will also be used in war for airborne and air transport operations.

ANI

> The C-295's present order book has 285 aircraft, and it is in service in Spain, Egypt, Poland, Canada, Brazil, Mexico, and Portugal and has seen operational service in Afghanistan and Iraq

Presently this requirement is met by the Avro-748 developed in the 1950s, to be replaced by 56 C-295MW. In addition to this, IAF has a large fleet of 104 Antonov-32 or AN-32 transporters from Ukraine with indigenous upgradation in India. The ongoing war in Ukraine is expected to reduce support from the Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM). Thus, C-295MW will be an ideal alternative. The nature of the joint venture between Airbus Defence and Space, Spain and Tata Advanced Systems Limited has the potential to create a distinct aerospace manufacturing ecosystem.

So far, Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd, India's defence public sector undertaking, has established several aircraft manufacturing lines, including fighters such as Su-30MKI and now the Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) Tejas series. However, there is no facility for light- and medium-transport aircraft. The C-295 plant in Gujarat will make up for this deficit. The joint venture will exploit inherent efficiencies of the private sector to rapidly create a manufacturing ecosystem and on-time delivery. A higher degree of flexibility can be exercised in collaboration, particularly with European companies. As the project takes off, prospects of passenger aircraft for the civil sector and defence exports will increase, with the prime minister highlighting "Make in India, Make for Globe" during the foundation stone laying.

For Airbus, Vadodara will be a hub for manufacturing in the Asia Pacific, with spin-offs in the Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul (MRO). For Tata Advanced Systems Limited, global accreditation as a defence OEM will be a major gain.

The factory in Gujarat will add to the defence industrial hubs existing, such as the Bengaluru-Hyderabad-Pune triangle and the ones coming up in UP and Tamil Nadu Defence Corridor.

While it has taken over a decade from conception to foundation laying, considerable flexibility in India's hidebound defence acquisition process is evident. Thus, the single vendor situation arising with Airbus being the sole bidder was overcome, a private sector defence Indian-foreign joint venture was given the green flag, and Airbus was allowed to select an indigenous partner. This model can now be replicated.

While the upside of the C-295 plant in India has been highlighted, caution is also due. Fructification of the project has taken almost a decade. Despite the push from the top, progress of implementation will have to be realistic given India's poor project management, manufacturing skills pool and supply chain bottlenecks, apart from the labyrinthine bureaucracy.

Creating an indigenous defence industrial base is expected to take decades due to several factors, including low technology and skills base to monopolies of the global defence markets.

The C-295 will remain a Make in India or manufacturing in India project, so in a true sense, indigenisation is limited and good as a first step as full-scale indigenisation entails design and development as well.

Finally, manufacturing a transport aircraft is far simpler than a combat fighter. Thus, the standards achieved cannot be replicated in the ambitious 114 twin-engine fighter manufacturing line envisaged for the IAF. Future expectations should be realistic.

Microchip wild animals

Apropos of Kodagu tiger strikes again, kills two kin in 15 hours (Feb 14). The forest department did not take swift action when the tiger was freely roaming around. Their incompetence led to two lives being lost and all the villagers fearing for their lives. Microchipping animals in the wild can help keep a track of their whereabouts as well as instill a feeling of security among villagers.

Losing their shine

Apropos of Aussies must stop blaming pitch, focus on technique instead (Feb 14). Sometimes it feels like this isn't the Australia cricket team that we grew up watching. Aussies were once dreaded all over the world with their fearsome bowling attack and never-ending batting lineup. The current team has to do a lot to be at that level.

A welcome tête-à-tête

Apropos of We held talks with RSS because they control the govt: Arif Ali (Feb 14). The fact that such a tête-à-tête took place, irrespective of the results, is a welcome step in the right direction. The resolution of outstanding issues between representatives of communities through dialogue will surely give a much-needed fillip to the cause of communal amity and peaceful co-existence.

Purity of heart matters

Apropos of A dancing girl and the sanyasi (Feb 13). Punita's mind was always on God, while the sanyasi spent his whole life thinking about how she was a sinner and cursing her. At the end of the day, she attained spiritual emancipation but he did not, for the divine considers the purity of the heart alone. What a scintillating piece by Renuka Narayanan!

When idiots inspire

Apropos of 3-Idiots redux: Doctors guide woman to deliver baby (Feb 14). Block Medical Officer Dr Mir used a WhatsApp call for communication between the doctors and paramedical staff to help deliver a baby. When all the roads were blocked, the doctor remembered Aamir Khan's idea from the movie 3 idiots and successfully delivered a baby girl. Had it not materialised properly, the doctors would have been branded careless "idiots" and they would have been pulled up.

Will scale up copter capability: Gen Pande

The force operating with around 250 Chetak & Cheetahs, and wants to replace them with LCH and ALH

MAYANK SINGH @Bengaluru

THE Indian Army has drawn plans to boost its operational air capability and will be inducting combat helicopters along the border frontiers in northern and western sectors.

The Army, which is operating with around 250 Chetak and Cheetah helicopters, wants to replace it with Light Combat Helicopters (LCH) and an advanced light helicopter weapon system integrated.

Army chief General Manoj Pande told the media on the sidelines of the Aero India show in Bengaluru that the force wanted to procure 90-95 LCH for mountain warfare. The Indian Army already operates four squadrons of ALH WSI.

In addition, the Army is also looking for about 110 light utility helicopters to replace the Cheetah and Chetak.

On the US-supplied Apache, he said, "We expect that a few of six ordered Apaches will be delivered in the early parts of next year."

On ALH, General Pande said the Army has received the first lot from Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) and wants some changes in the choppers.

The Indian Air Force has raised its squadron of LCH in Jodhpur while the Army has done so at Tezpur.

The Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) in March last year approved the procurement of 15 Light Combat Helicopter (LCH) limited series production at the cost of ₹3,887 crore along with infrastructure sanctions worth ₹377 crore. Of these five LCH are to be inducted into the Indian Army.

The LCH is an indigenously designed, developed and manufactured state-of-the-art modern combat helicopter powered by a twin Shakti engine with a range of 550 km and a maximum speed of 268 kmph. It is compatible with high-altitude deployment with the capability to take off and land at about 5,000 metre (16,400 feet).

The IAF is in the process of finalising the number of LCHs to be procured. These helicopters may replace the ageing Russian Mi-25 and Mi-35 attack choppers presently in fleet.

In June 2022, the Indian Army inducted the first LCH squadron in Bengaluru. It will be moved to Eastern Command along the Line of Actual Control (LCH) next year.

The LCH is equipped with requisite agility, manoeuvrability, extended range, high altitude performance and around-the-clock, all-weather combat capability to perform roles of combat search and rescue, destruction of enemy air defence, counter-insurgency operations against slow-moving aircraft, and remotely piloted aircraft (RPAs), high-altitude bunker busting operations and support to ground forces. It would be a potent platform to meet the operational requirements of the IAF and the Army.

State-of-the-art technologies and systems compatible with stealth features such as reduced visual, aural, radar and IR signatures and crash worthiness features for better survivability have been integrated into LCH. Several key aviation technologies such as glass cockpits and composite airframe structures have been indigenised.

US may return biggest cache of stolen antiquities

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE Archeological Survey of India (ASI) is expected to fetch a large cache of stolen antiquities, smuggled out of the country over the decades in the previous century, from the United States. According to the culture ministry officials, privy to the matter, a team of three senior officials of ASI, has examined and documented nearly 307 artefacts including idols in New York last week to facilitate their repatriation. If all articles are brought back, this will be the biggest haul of heritage objects returning to India.

The team, sent to the US to examine, classify and annotate, comprised two senior ASI officials from Delhi and one from Kolkata office.

"The officials stayed abroad for a week and scrutinised 307 antiquities which are still in possession of US authorities. They checked whether the relics are authentic and from India. The team also documented all the details such as the period they belong to and the year when they were stolen and taken out of the country. All the relevant paperwork has almost been completed. Now, the ministry will decide how many of them will be brought and the course of their repatriation," said officials.

Arrival may take about a year as the return is a cumbersome process and involves financial clearances if Indian authorities retrieve on their own, the officials.

"When the foreign agencies return antiquities, repatriation is faster. When Indian authorities initiate the process it takes time due to administrative clearances. First it has to be decided which agency will bear the cost of insurance, packaging and transportation cost," added the officials.

On several occasions, the Government has said that retrieval of cultural objects from foreign countries is on its priority list and it has been making concentrated efforts.

Since 2014, the Centre has brought 228 antiquities from various countries while the majority of them (178) have come from the US. Only 13 objects could be fetched till 2014.

Officials said that administrative hurdles had also delayed the arrival of nine antiquities, which were proposed to come from the US, United Kingdom and Italy around October-November. The list of recovered artefacts awaiting repatriation include two quintessential idols—500 years old bronze deity of Lord Hanuman and Avalokiteshwara Padamapani, statue of Gautam Buddha.

Over 5K Rlys staffers yet to be transferred despite govt norms

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

AS extant provision for government servants holding sensitive posts stipulates that they can continue in a post for not more than four years. These posts include the ones that frequently involve close interface with public or contractors or supply wings. However thousands of railway employees continue in the same post for five years.

On the number of such employees in the railways who have been continuing in the same post for five years or more, the minister told the House that the number stood 5,861. "These employees belong to the sensitive categories and are working in the same place and station for the five years," said Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw.

The Minister's statement came a couple of days ago during the just-concluded first round of the Budget session in the Lok Sabha. In a written reply to aquestion, the Minister said the transfer of such employees is being considered and done as per the administrative requirements and exigencies.

He stated in a written reply that extant provisions stipulate that railway employees holding sensitive posts, including those who frequently come into contact with public or contractors or suppliers, are required to be transferred every four years.

For this, a comprehensive list of sensitive posts has also been circulated, he said. "However when transfer of such employees is not possible, then they are be shifted to a different non-sensitive seat in the same place to meet the requirement of periodical transfers".

A senior railway official said the railways is working on the transfer of these employees as per the extant provisions.

Meanwhile, the railways has 3.12 lakh non-gazetted posts lying vacant across the country, reports said citing government data. The maximum posts are vacant in the northern zone (38,754), followed by the western (30,476), eastern (30,141), and central zones (28,650). Non-gazetted posts include jobs for engineers, technicians, clerks, station masters, ticket collectors, among others.

Staff shortage has led to employees working overtime and ticket booking windows being rendered non-operational.

Govt preparing list

- No senior govt servant can work in the same post at sensitive positions for over 4 yrs
- However, the Railways ministry has 5,861 such staff, says Union minister in Lok Sabha
- The Railways ministry is preparing a list of 'sensitive posts' and officials being shifted as per the extant provision

Covid hit childhood cancer detection & cure, says ICMR

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE COVID-19 pandemic had a major impact on childhood cancer detection and diagnosis. Many poor parents abandoned the treatment due to a shortage of blood products and chemotherapy agents and in some cases, because of the complete closure of paediatric cancer care service, said a recent ICMR-NCDIR report.

Childhood cancer care services were affected in most tertiary and secondary hospitals – as most of them were turned into Covid facilities – leading to a decrease in detecting new cases, interruptions in radiotherapy, and reduced surgeries, said the report.

The report by the National Centre for Disease Informatics and Research (NCDIR) under the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), Bengaluru, in collaboration with the World Health Organization (WHO)-India said that it was not only government hospitals which were impacted during the pandemic, services at NGOs and charitable hospitals providing paediatric cancer care were also affected badly.

Private hospitals, said the report, managed to continue their cancer services, despite bearing the Covid patient load. But, some of them too reported treatment abandonment and reduction in new paediatric cancer diagnoses.

According to Dr Prashant Mathur, Director, NCDIR, government hospitals saw a decrease in new paediatric cancer diagnoses, an increase in treatment abandonment, reduced surgical care, a dip in evaluation of new cases of suspected cancers and in some cases some they completely closed their paediatric cancer care services during the pandemic.

He, however, told this newspaper that one positive outcome was that during this time, there was an increase in telemedicine use, and many oncologists came out with modifications in chemotherapy regimes.

Dr Manas Kalra, a pediatric oncologist at New Delhi's Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, said, "Covid created havoc and children with cancer were not spared the impact. The biggest challenge was the fear of the unknown. We didn't know whether Covid infection would make the already immunocompromised host worse and interfere with their treatment."

He said the second Covid-19 was tough for cancer treatment, as it did lead to significant morbidity especially in children with blood cancer. "Pneumonia, Aspergillosis (white fungus), mucor (black fungus), candida and TB were some of the other challenges that complicated the course of children with Covid infection,"he said.

According to Dr Aakaar Kapoor, medical advisor and chief radiologist at City Xray and Scan Clinic, the struggle was more evident during the first wave of COVID-19 than in the second and third waves.

Data suggests that the Covid-19 pandemic resulted in considerable barriers to cancer detection.

4% of all cancer cases in India detected in children

Four per cent of all cancer cases in India are detected in children. Still, in the absence of any separate childhood cancer policy, these children are not detected on time due to a lack of trained doctors and nurses or reach facilities late, and sometimes, die even before they are diagnosed

After 3 yrs, Prez to present Sangeet Natak Akademi awards

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

PRESIDENT Droupadi Murmu will present the Sangeet Natak Akademi Fellowships and Sangeet Natak Awards for the year 2019, 2020 and 2021 to over 100 eminent artists at a joint investiture ceremony to be held on February 22. The President will be conferring Akademi awards after a gap of four years. Last year, then vice president M Venkaiah Naidu handed over the awards for the year 2018.

"The awards ceremony couldn't take place initially for three years due to Covid pandemic and last year, the president was not available," said officials. During the meeting of the General Council of the Akademi, the National Academy of Music, Dance and Drama, held in November unanimously elected 10 eminent personalities for performing arts as Akademi Fellows.

The noted artists selected for the fellowships are Saroja Vaidyanathan (Bharatanatyam), Sadanam Krishnankutty (Kathakali), Pandit Chhannulal Mishra (Hindustani classical), Teejan Bai (Pandavani), KC Natarajan (carnatic music), Darshana Jhaveri (Manipuri dance), Swapan Chaudhuri (Tabla), Malini Rajurkar (Hindustani classical), TV Gopalakrishnan (Carnatic and Hindustani music), and Bharat Gupt (Indian classicist). The Akademi Awards have been conferred since 1952.

The Akademi fellowship is a most prestigious recognition in the field of arts and culture. The Council also selected one hundred and twenty-eight (128) artists from the field of music, dance, puppetry, and theatre including folk and tribal, for the honour thus clearing the backlog for three years.

"The fellows and awardees so selected represent the nation as a whole, and belong to different States and union territories. Besides, these eminent artists cover the entire gamut of the performing arts such as vocal music, both Hindustani and Carnatic. The northeastern States have also been adequately represented with 14 artists from the region selected for the Award from Assam, Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur, Tripura, Meghalaya, Mizoram and Nagaland," said the officials.

The investiture ceremony of Akademi's Ustad Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar for the years 2019, 2020 and 2021 will be held on Wednesday. Union culture minister G Kishan Reddy along with minister of states for culture—Arjun Ram Meghwal and Meenakshi Lekhi will present awards to 102 artists.

The Ustad Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar is given to artists below the age of 40 years with the objective of scouting outstanding young artists.

Statute's 10th Schedule 'misused, subverted'

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

STRESSING the fact that 10th schedule of the Constitution that deals with disqualification was introduced to provide for disposal of complaints is being 'misused' and 'subverted' by every government, Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal for former Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray on Tuesday told Supreme Court that the speaker of the state Legislative Assembly can never act as an unbiased umpire.

"History has seen that Speakers always supported their party. Speaker can never act as an unbiased umpire. We had the 10th schedule to cure the constitutional morality and now it's being subverted by every government. Now new shenanigans is happening," Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal said.

Laying emphasis on the fact that the "speaker" as an arbiter under 10th schedule should be "impartial", CJI D Y Chandrachud said, "What is worrying is if you say speaker can take all action until his disqualification when it is put to vote, the consequence is he can affect his own removal by acting in the motion... that can have an adverse affect."

In an attempt to convince the bench for having a re look at SC's 2016 verdict in Nebam Rabia wherein SC had ruled that assembly speaker cannot proceed with a plea for disqualification of MLAs if a prior notice seeking his removal is pending decision in the House, he said, "impugned observations have created a constitutional hiatus and given an escape route to "constitutional sinners".

BJP has no competition in '24: Shah

Says Modi govt's development steps have removed feeling of alienation among NE people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tura

The various development initiatives of the Narendra Modi government in the past eight years will see the BJP triumph in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday. The upcoming elections in Tripura, Nagaland and Meghalaya will show where the party stands, Shah added while speaking to a news agency.

The Congress is seeking to regain the lost ground but Shah said the people in the country have not yet chosen any party as the principal opposition to the BJP. The Congress, which once ruled the entire Northeast, has got reduced to a shadow of its glorious past in the wake of the BJP's emergence as a powerhouse, he added, talking about how the Centre has removed the feeling of alienation among people in the Northeast and strengthened regional identity.

The stakes are high for the BJP in the three states that go to polls shortly. It will try to retain power in Tripura and Nagaland and fare well in Meghalaya. The BJP is a component of the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party-led "three-party" government in Nagaland and the National People's Party-led six-party ruling coalition in Meghalaya. Congress leader Rahul Gandhi did not campaign in any of the states.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah with Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal at Haryana Police Academy in Karnal on Tuesday | PTI

Shah exuded confidence that the BJP will secure an absolute majority in Tripura, riding on its development initiatives. He claimed that people at the grassroots level have reaped the dividends of the central government schemes.

According to Shah, when he visited a house in the state recently for a meal, the members of the family showed him the toilet, gas cylinder, electricity, tap water and their Ayushman Bharat card. He said they took pride in their plastered house.

"People are moving ahead with Modiji. I feel that the BJP will have no competition in the 2024 elections," the home minister said. The process of militants abjuring the path of violence in the Northeast started in Assam more than a decade ago when Tarun Gogoi was the chief minister.

Several groups had come forward for peace talks while some others were disbanded. The BJP continued with it. Shah said over 8,000 members of militant outfits joined the mainstream under the Modi government. He said inviting artistes from the Northeast to all national festivals is testimony to the Centre's effort to promote the cultural heritage.

People from the Northeast today feel respected in the country, he stressed. Talking about the Modi government, he said India has progressed across sectors. He said reducing India's reliance on other countries by 30% in the defence sector is a big achievement.

Govt to bring changes in CrPC, IPC, says Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

Union Home Minister Amit Shah today said the Narendra Modi government will bring changes in the Criminal Procedure Code, the Indian Penal Code and the Evidence Act to make forensic investigation compulsory for crimes which attract punishment of six years or more.

He said that there is a big drop in terror incidents in Jammu and Kashmir after the abrogation of Article 370 and a record number of tourists are visiting the Union Territory. Presenting the President's Colour to the Haryana Police at the Haryana Police Academy at Madhuban in Karnal in recognition of its exceptional service, Shah also said the BJP government at the Centre has successfully tackled internal security challenges terror activities in Jammu and Kashmir, insurgency in the North East and Left Wing Extremism in the last eight years.

Investors confident of UP's biz-friendly policies: Minister

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

CALLING upon the Opposition to join the efforts being made by the Yogi Adityanath government to take Uttar Pradesh towards accomplishing one trillion dollar economy, UP Minister of Industrial Development Nand Gopal Gupta 'Nandi' said everyone should unite instead of spearheading misinformation against the government.

"For the holistic development of the state, everyone should come together. But leaders like Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav will never understand it. He may have inherited a political legacy but that does not give him political acumen. People have rejected such forces," Nandi told this daily.

Nandi, an industrialist himself, said the recently-concluded UP GIS-2023, which witnessed investment proposals worth ₹33.5 lakh crore and signing of over 19,000 MoUs, was a step towards making the state one trillion dollar economy.

"To accomplish the goal, CM Yogi met financial giants like Deloitte, KPMG, BCG, Grant Thronton and Invest India. He also drew a roadmap with ministers and bureaucrats. The bottlenecks were identified and the final thought of having such a summit cropped up," Nandi added. During the summit, key investment proposals were received from Reliance Industries (₹75,000 crore), ABC Cleantech (₹50,000 crore), NTPC (₹42,000 crore), Unicorn Energy (Rs 40,000 crore), and Aditya Birla and Hindujas (₹25,000 crore each). The positive response was achieved due to several factors, Nandi said.

"Improvement in law and order has added to the investors' confidence. They know that their investment will be safe now. Under the guidance of PM Narendra Modi and CM Yogi, the golden period of UP has started," he stated, mentioning factors such as the business-friendly policies.

Fresh trouble for Akhil Gogoi, old case to reopen

Activist-turned-politician Akhil Gogoi is facing fresh trouble. The Gauhati High Court has issued directions to reopen a case against Akhil Gogoi and three others in connection with the violence during the protests against the contentious Citizenship Amendment Bill in 2019. The case was registered under the UAPA. Last week, the High Court directed a trial court to conduct fresh hearing on the framing of charges against the quartet based on an appeal by the NIA. The court of a special judge, NIA had discharged the four but a division bench observed that NIA special judge's approach was "erroneous".

Cong claims 'favouritism' in scrap deal

The Congress demanded a probe into auction of scrap materials of the locked Jagiroad paper mill. The party claimed the cash-strapped BJP government deprived three highest bidders in order to favour a certain firm. State Congress spokesman Manjit Mahanta said the government rejected the tender applications of the three highest bidders citing "technical reasons". "The selection of that particular firm, which is close to powers-that-be, is more or less final. In favouring it, the government will suffer a loss of Rs 50 crore. What made it decide to award the contract to that firm? We demand a high-level probe into it," Mahanta said.

ULFA rebel on a mission shot dead

Amid hopes that United Liberation Front of Assam (ULFA) will respond positively to government's offer of talks, the security forces gunned down a senior member of the insurgent group during an encounter in Tinsukia district last week. The police said seven to nine ULFA militants, led by Uday Asom, had sneaked into coal-rich Margherita and Lekhapani areas from Myanmar and were planning to kidnap a businessman and target two senior cops who were going after the insurgent group. The Himanta Biswa Sarma government made many peace overtures to ULFA military chief Paresh Baruah in the past two years. The insurgent leader stuck to his guns on the sovereignty demand.

First export order to Philippines to be for 2 yrs

ITS first export order to the Philippines is a shore-based BrahMos anti-ship weapon system. The deliveries that will start from the end of this year will go on for the next two years.

The Indian Navy, Army and Air Force have already inducted the supersonic cruise missile. One squadron of the Sukhoi-30MKI is equipped with the lethal weapon that significantly adds to its firepower, and the IAF is said to be looking to integrate the missile with many more Sukhoi fighter jets. Not just the Su-30s, in the next stage, the missile will be integrated with the homegrown Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) Tejas and Mirage 2000s.

BrahMos NG (Next Generation) will be a smaller missile — half the size of the current missile — with a 300 km range. Now the corporation is working on the air-launch version so that two missiles can be fitted on one aircraft. "We will use the Su-30 as our development platform and once we prove the missile, we will be integrating it on Tejas as well as the Mirages if the Air Force requires," Rane said.

They have completed the preliminary design of the new lighter variant of the missile and have started its detailed designing. It will now be approaching the government for approval for the new variant.

The BrahMos Corporation's order book is full up to 2025-26 and with the next orders from the Indian Air Force and Indian Navy, they are hoping to have orders for the current variant of BrahMos till 2028-29. Once the new variant is proven, it hopes to export 1,000 missiles.

Rane, however, assured that as of now, the Russia-Ukraine war has had no impact on the project as Russia is supplying whatever is required for the project.

Mann slams Guv, says 'elected, not selected' should take decisions

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A day after Punjab Governor Banwarilal Purohit hit out at CM Bhagwant Mann for "running the administration as per his whims and fancies and not as per the Constitution," Mann on Tuesday got back, saying "those who are elected by people should take decisions, and not those who are selected."

Purohit also wrote a letter to the CM alleging that Mann had never replied to the queries raised by him.

Purohit also said that if Mann did not reply to him within 15 days, then he would be compelled to take legal advice for further action. Mann said the residents of the state "want to ask as to how in the absence of clarity on the criteria for appointing a governor, the Union government makes such appointments." Mann said that before questioning the state government on dispatching principals to Singapore, the Governor must explain the qualifications being adopted by the Centre for appointing a person to the coveted post. The governor had cited another "complaint" on the appointment of Gurinderjit Singh Jawanda, as chairman of Punjab Information and Communication and Technology Corporation Ltd.

Jaish decimated after '19 Pulwama attack, say senior security officials

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ON the fourth anniversary of Pulwama attack, top security officials on Tuesday said security agencies are denying space to militants to carry out big attacks in Kashmir and Jaish-e-Mohammad militant outfit, which was responsible for February 14, 2019 Pulwama attack, has been decimated.

"We are trying to deny the space to militants to execute any big attack in Kashmir," IG CRPF Operations M S Bhatia told reporters at Lethpora, Pulwama after paying floral tributes to 40 CRPF men killed in Pulwama attack on February 14, 2019. A wreath laying ceremony was held at Lethpora, Pulwama today to remember the slain CRPF men. Top security officials offered floral tributes to the slain security men.

A Jaish suicide bomber Aadil Dar rammed his explosive laden vehicle with a CRPF convoy at Lethpora, Pulwama on February 14, 2019 killing 40 CRPF men.

The IG CRPF said intelligence agencies are working round the clock and whatever new militant modules evolve, it is being destroyed. "We bust the modules and bring them to justice before it can do any damage. This process has been going on with full synergy continuously. We make every effort to bust and neutralize each and every militant module".

"The OGW network is part of eco terrorism. The continuous action is taken to eliminate this terror eco system. A lot of encounters took place last year and many militant modules were busted," he said.

"There is remarkable progress in the security situation and security forces are determined to wipe out the terrorism in the Valley," the IG CRPF said. Another CRPF official said after the Pulwama attack, the SOPs have been changed and now no civilian vehicle is allowed during the movement of security convoys.

He said possibility of Pulwama-type attack is near impossible due to stringent security measures put in place.

Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) Kashmir Vijay Kumar said 19 militants were involved in the Pulwama attack and NIA had filed chargesheet against them.

Of the 19 militants, eight were killed in encounters, seven arrested while four militants including three Pakistanis Azhar Masood, Rouf Masood and Alvi and a local Ashiq Nengroo are hiding in Pakistan, he said. The ADGP said Jaish-e-Mohammad outfit, which was involved in planning and execution of Pulwama attack, has been decimated by security forces in the last three years. "Now, Jaish has only 7-8 local militants and 5-6 Pakistani militants. We are after them and they will be eliminated soon," he said.

Maha sops to paddy farmers, 5L likely to benefit

Mumbai: The Maharashtra cabinet on Tuesday decided to offer the ₹1,500 per hectares as an incentive to paddy or food gains growing farmers, the maximum incentive will be for two hectares only. Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde said the state government has earmarked ₹1,000 crore to help the paddy – food grain growing farmers. He said this cabinet decision will benefit the 5 lakh farmers in the state.

Last land survey likely to become basis of employment policy in J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

STATE government is likely to introduce a revised Bill in the upcoming Budget Session of the State Assembly making last land survey report (khatiyan) as its basis. Sources in the state government said that this time the Bill will not limit the cut off year to 1932 land survey but the last land survey conducted in the districts.

Notably, Governor Ramesh Bais had returned 1932-Khatian based Local Policy Bill-2022 passed by Jharkhand Assembly on January 29, asking the government to review its legality in accordance with the constitution and in orders passed by the Supreme Court.

The bill passed by the Jharkhand Assembly was sent to the Governor for his approval, according which, a person having domicile of Jharkhand shall mean a person who is an Indian citizen and resides within the territorial and geographical limits of Jharkhand and his or her ancestor's name is recorded in the khatian (land records) of 1932 or earlier.

"A new local policy is being considered on the basis of last Land Survey Settlement and not 1932 Khatian, which means the districts, in which the last survey has been done, will be made the base for the policy," said a senior official in the state government. There will be provisions for landless people too, and will be identified through Gram Sabha, he added.

According to official, their names and addresses would be verified through Gram Sabha. It will also be ascertained through the Gram Sabha that their names are not there in any government document in any other State, he added.

Senior Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) functionaries also asserted that recruitment policy based on land records (Khatiyan) will be introduced in the Assembly. "Those who are having a 'khatiyan' are the owner of their land, and hence, actual residents of this state," said the JMM functionary.

Meanwhile, a survey is being conducted among the youths to gauge their opinion regarding what they would like to see as a prospective rule. Under this survey, candidates are receiving a recorded call from the CM himself saying that the government does not want to challenge HC's order nd wants to start the recruitment process.

State traders to go on strike from February 15

Jharkhand could be heading to a food crisis with grain merchants calling an indefinite strike from February 15 against the Jharkhand State Agriculture Produce and Livestock Marketing Bill 2022 that introduces a market fee on perishable food commodities. All kinds of small and big shops are likely to remain closed during the strike called by traders.

U'khand: More villages covered by regular cops

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

IN Uttarakhand, 6 new police stations and 20 new police posts have been opened, handing over revenue police areas to regular police. Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami virtually inaugurated these new police stations and outposts from the Secretariat on Monday. After the Ankita Bhandari murder, demand for opening regular police stations in revenue police areas had gained momentum.

Taking a big lesson from the manner in which the revenue police investigated the murder of Vantara resort receptionist Ankita Bhandari, the government has taken this step in the first phase of its commitment to replace the revenue police with regular police.

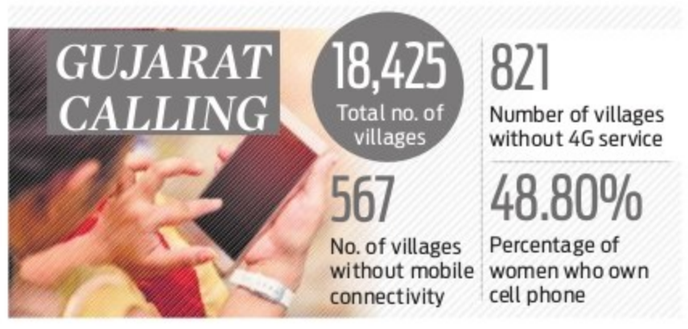
The new posts inaugurated include Lakhamandal in Dehradun, Birokhal in Pauri, Gaja, Kandikhal and Chamiala in Tehri, among others.

51% Guj women don't have cellphone, 567 villages lack mobile connectivity

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

MORE than 51% of women in Gujarat do not own a mobile phone, while over 567 out of the total 18,425 villages in the state remain without mobile access. Also, despite the nationwide rollout of 5G, over 800 villages in Gujarat are without 4G service, the state's Kheda MP and Minister of State for Telecom Devusinh Chauhan informed the Lok Sabha in response to Telangana Congress MP Anumula Revanth Reddy's question.

The most affected by the lack of mobile connectivity are tribal areas, says telecom sector expert Vishal Jadav. "Mobile connectivity has not been achieved even today, despite the many claims of the government, particularly in Gujarat's tribal areas," he says, enumerating that the tribal-dominated Dang district has approximately 90 villages that do not have mobile connectivity, followed by the Kutch and Narmada districts, where 84 and 64 villages, respectively, don't have service.



"Private companies do not set up towers in areas where mobile phone usage or people's income is low, but the government has its own mobile company, so the question is why don't they bring the service to these areas? In 'Digital India', hearing about a village without a mobile phone seems strange," adds Jadav. According to the information tabled by the telecom department in the Lok Sabha, citing the National Family Health 2019-2021 report, only 48.80% of women in the age group of 15-49 years in Gujarat have their own mobile phone.

"This reflects that there is gender inequality on a large scale in society of Gujarat. Women are denied modern technology and that they don't have the kind of income," says economist Indira Hirve.

STRUGGLE TO GET AID TO TURKEY AND SYRIA, VICTIMS TOIL IN BITTER COLD

Water in quake-hit area unsuitable to drink as people grapple to meet basic needs

JINDERIS

AID agencies and governments stepped up efforts on Tuesday to send help to parts of Turkey and Syria devastated by an earthquake, but a week after the disaster, many of those who lost their homes were struggling to meet basic needs, like finding shelter from the bitter cold.

The situation was particularly desperate in Syria, where a 12-year civil war has complicated relief efforts and meant days of wrangling over how to even move aid into the country, let alone distribute it. Some people there said they have received nothing. In Turkey, meanwhile, families huddled in train cars.

Ahmed Ismail Suleiman set up a shelter of blankets outside his damaged house in the town of Jinderis, one of the worst-hit communities in northwest Syria. He was afraid to move his family back into a house that might not be structurally sound, so 18 people slept outside under the makeshift tent.

Mahmoud Haffar, head of the local council in the town, said that locals have been able to scrounge up about 2,500 tents so far, but some 1,500 families still remain without shelter—as nighttime temperatures fall to around -4°C.

Much of the water system in the quake-hit region was not working, and Turkey's health minister said samples taken from dozens of points of the water system showed the water was unsuitable to drink.

In the Turkish port city of Iskenderun, displaced families have sheltered in train carriages since last week.

While many have left in recent days for nearby camps or other parts of Turkey, dozens of people were still living in the trains on Tuesday. "The wagons have become our home," 50-year-old Nida Karahan said. Meanwhile, more than 200 hours after the quake struck, teacher Emine Akgul was pulled from an apartment building in Antakya by a mining search and rescue team.

In Adiyaman province, rescuers reached 18-year-old Muhammed Cafer Cetin, and medics gave him an IV with fluids before attempting a dangerous extraction from a building.

Also, the UN launched an appeal for $397 million on Tuesday to help earthquake victims in Syria.

Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, announcing the appeal, said the funds would bring "life-saving relief" for nearly five million Syrians and would cover a period of three months.

Quake relief reaches Syria via newly opened crossing

BAB AL-SALAMA

AN aid convoy crossed on Tuesday from Turkey into rebel-held north Syria, the first through Bab al-Salama crossing that reopened for UN relief after last week's earthquake, the UN said.

Paul Dillon, a spokesman for the United Nations' International Organization for Migration (IOM), told AFP that "11 IOM trucks" entered through "the newly opened Bab al-Salama border," confirmed by an AFP correspondent at the crossing. The convoy was loaded with essential humanitarian assistance including shelter materials, mattresses, blankets and carpets, Dillon said.

But activists and emergency teams in Syria's northwest have decried the UN's slow response to the quake in rebel-held areas, contrasting it with the planeloads of humanitarian aid that have been delivered to government-controlled airports. Also, the first UN team arrived on Tuesday in rebel-held northwestern Syria.

More than 7 million kids hit hard, many lost parents: UN

GENEVA

MORE than seven million children have been affected by the massive earthquake that devastated Turkey and Syria last week, the United Nations said on Tuesday, voicing fear that "many thousands" more had died. "In Turkey, the total number of children living in the 10 provinces hit by the two earthquakes was 4.6 million children. In Syria, 2.5 million children are affected," James Elder, spokesman for the UN children's agency UNICEF, said.

He spoke as rescue teams began winding down the search for survivors from the disastrous quake that has left more than 35,000 dead in the two countries.

"UNICEF fears many thousands of children have been killed," Elder said, warning that "even without verified numbers, it is tragically clear that numbers will continue grow." He said he feared the final toll would be "mind-boggling."

Given the catastrophic and ever-increasing death toll, he said it was obvious that "many, many children will have lost parents in these devastating earthquakes."

"Tens of thousands of families are exposed to the elements at a time of year when temperatures are bitingly cold, and snow and freezing rain are common," he said, pointing to reports of rising numbers of children suffering from hypothermia and respiratory infections. AFP

Ukraine appeals for jets as war nears critical phase

BRUSSELS

UKRAINE on Tuesday renewed its appeal to Western countries for fighter jets to help frustrate Moscow's invasion, as senior defence officials from the United States and its NATO allies said the war with Russia is approaching a critical stage.

With the war set to enter its second year, the Ukraine contact group met at NATO headquarters and Ukraine made its requirements clear.

Defence Minister Oleksiy Reznikov, when asked what military aid his country is seeking now, showed reporters an image of a fighter jet.

Moscow's forces have been pressing in the east of Ukraine. The war has been largely static during the winter months, though both sides are expected to launch offensives when the weather improves.

Putin was hoping Western support for Kyiv would fizzle out, allowing him to charge ahead, US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin told the meeting.

But Austin said the contact group would "help Ukraine hold an advance during the spring counteroffensive" and would keep planning for Kyiv's long-term needs. "Today's meeting comes at a critical time.Kremlin is still betting that it can wait us out," Austin said.

NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg, asked when he expects Russia's so-called spring offensive to begin, said that "the reality is that we have seen the start already."

"...It's urgent to provide Ukraine with more weapons," he said.

Meanwhile, the head of Russia's Wagner mercenary group said on Tuesday that fight for Bakhmut is far from over.

"Bakhmut will not be taken tomorrow, because there is heavy resistance and grinding...," Wagner chief Yevgeny Prigozhin said. "We will not be celebrating in the near future," he added. He said that Ukraine is "becoming more active, pulling up...new reserves."

"Every day, between 300 and 500 new fighters approach Bakhmut from all directions," Prigozhin said, adding that "artillery fire intensifies with every day." Agencies

Haley, a trailblazer who negotiated sanctions against North Korea

WASHINGTON

NIKKI Haley, who announced her 2024 US presidential bid, has not only taken on political insiders in South Carolina but also confronted countries like China and Russia during her stint at the UN.

Haley, 51, identifies herself as a "proud daughter of Indian immigrants," whereas in public life, her friends and foes describe her as a "conservative outsider," a "trailblazer," as well as a "fighter."

Born Nimrata Nikki Randhawa to immigrant Punjabi Sikh parents in Bamberg, she is the two-term Governor of South Carolina and the former US Ambassador to the UN.

She earned an accounting degree from Clemson University. After that, she joined her family's clothing business.

At 39, Haley was the youngest governor in the US when she took office in January 2011, and made history as South Carolina's first female governor. She was also the state's first Indian-American governor.

At the UN, she negotiated the strongest set of sanctions against North Korea, convincing China and Russia to sign onto the agreement.

Known as the 'Iran whisperer,' she was instrumental in making the case for repealing former US President Barack Obama's Iran nuclear deal.

For her work at the UN, Forbes had named her one of the world's 100 most powerful women.

Haley's term at the UN marked significant change in US-China relations. She confronted China's Uyghur atrocities and re-education camps, and warned of the existential threat China has on America and the world. PTI

Despite US rap, Israel vows to legalise dozens of settlements

JERUSALEM: Israel's finance minister on Tuesday brushed off American criticism of new settlement construction in the West Bank and vowed to legalise dozens of wildcat settlement outposts in the occupied territory. Bezalel Smotrich spoke after the US said it strongly opposed Israeli plans to build extensively in West Bank settlements and retroactively legalise nine outposts. Smotrich said that he and his allies were "committed to removing completely the restrictions on building in Judea and Samaria," referring to the West Bank by its biblical names. Smotrich has been promised authority over the defence body responsible for West Bank settlement construction as part of his coalition agreement with PM Benjamin Netanyahu.

Current mkt volatility temporary, says Adani

Assurance from billionaire comes as Group facing one of its biggest crises in recent times after Hindenburg report

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

GAUTAM ADANI, Chairman of Adani Group, on Tuesday, said the current volatility in the market is 'temporary' even as the Group's 10 listed entities have lost about $120 billion in market capitalisation since the release of the Hindenburg Research report on January 24.

"AEL's exceptional resilience and capacity to build highly profitable core sector business indicate how our strategy of harnessing the diverse strengths of Adani portfolio of firms is creating consistent long-term value for all our stakeholders. Our success is due to our strong governance, strict regulatory compliance, sustained performance, and solid cashflow generation," said Adani while releasing the December 2022 quarterly numbers of flagship firm Adani Enterprises Ltd (AEL).

The billionaire, who has seen a sharp fall in his net fortune, from third-richest earlier to 24th richest now, added, "The current market volatility is temporary; and as a incubator with a vision of long-term value creation, AEL will continue to work with the twin objectives of moderate leverage and looking at strategic opportunities to expand and grow." AEL reported a ₹820 crore net profit Q3FY23 from a loss of ₹11.63 crore a year ago. Revenue from operations grew 42% to ₹26,612 crore. AEL shares fell about 50% in the ongoing rout.

The assurance from Adani comes as the Group is facing one of its biggest crisis in recent times. After Hindenburg accused it of stock price manipulation among other things, a few global banks have stopped accepting its bonds as collateral while Moody's downgraded outlook of four Group firms. Owing to its humongous size and high debt level, the Group is facing increased scrutiny by the stock exchange, the SEBI and the Supreme Court.

The Group on Tuesday said the portfolio level net debt-to run rate EBITDA ratio has decreased from 7.6x in FY2013 to 3.2x in FY2022. It said there is no material refinancing risk and near-term liquidity requirement as there is no near-term significant debt maturity.

CBDT NOTIFIES NEW INCOME TAX RETURNS FORMS

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

THE Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) has notified new income tax returns (ITR) forms for the assessment year 2023-24, which are almost similar to the previous forms with some minor changes. There are seven ITR forms for different classes of taxpayers. This is not in line with the Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announcement in the Budget 2024 when she had proposed next-generation common Income Tax Return form for all taxpayers.

"I now come to my direct tax proposals. These proposals aim to maintain continuity and stability of taxation, further simplify and rationalise various provisions to reduce the compliance burden, promote entrepreneurial spirit and provide tax relief to citizens.....We intend to further improve this, roll out a next-generation Common IT Return Form for taxpayer convenience, and plan to strengthen the grievance redressal mechanism," Sitharaman had said. As per the former president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India(ICAI), Ved Jain, this time around the government notified the ITR forms well in advance. Earlier, it would even notify the forms after the assessment year would begin.

There is a separate schedule for virtual digital assets (VDA) that requires details like date of acquisition, date of transfer head under which income to be taxed, cost of acquisition for transfer of VDA. Other minor tweaks are there in the general information section and tax collection at source (TCS) section. "No significant changes have been made to the forms notified this year. A separate "Schedule – VDA" has been added to report income from virtual digital asset such as crypto currency. Tax provisions for taxation of VDAs was introduced from FY 2022-23 hence the addition of new schedule is in line with the expectation," Saraswathi Kasturirangan, Partner with Deloitte India said.

BSNL asks Tejas to supply 4G devices for 1 lakh sites

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

STATE-OWNED Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) Board recommended Tejas Network to deploy 1 lakh network sites to launch 4G services in the country.

The telco will send its recommendation (purchase order) to the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) for approval, and then in return DoT will send it to the Group of Ministers (GoM) to seek clearance.

The telco chose Tejas Network, a part of Tata Group, as a vendor to supply 4G equipment for 1 lakh sites. It would cost a sum of ₹24,556.37 crore that includes network gear cost of about ₹13,000 crore, as well as third-party items and a 10-year annual maintenance contract (AMC). This development is good for the telco as it will speed up its 4G rollout, which has been delayed for years. While private telcos are updating their network to 5G, BSNL is still using 2G and 3G networks. Other than Tejas Network, HFCL (partners Pertsol and Mavenir), L&T (partners Pertsol and Mavenir), Tech Mahindra (partners Pertsol and Sterlite) have shown interest in the contract. However, these firms have failed to submit proof of concept (PoC). In the Budget 2023-24, the Centre allocated ₹52,937 crore to BSNL, which includes installation of new towers and technology upgrade to 4G and 5G. In July 2022, Cabinet cleared a ₹1.64 lakh crore package for BSNL and MTNL following ₹69,000 crore rescue plan in 2019.

Adani Group hires Grant Thornton for audit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

ADANI GROUP has appointed accountancy firm Grant Thornton for an independent audit of some of its companies in a bid to come clean of the allegations levelled by the US short-seller Hindenburg Research and to assure investors and regulators.

The appointment follows recent reports that Adani Group is planning to appoint one of the 'big four' global firms to conduct a general audit of its business. Grant Thornton is considered among the top 'big six' global auditing firms.

The audit is primarily to show to regulators like the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) that the group has nothing to hide and it is in compliance with relevant laws.

The audit will specifically look into if there was any misappropriation or repatriation of funds and if loans were used for any purpose other than the one they were intended for.

Meanwhile, S&P Global Ratings said on Tuesday that while there may not be any significant financial stability risks from the Adani crisis, Indian banks may now conduct extra due diligence before making corporate loans and even charge higher risk premia.

S&P Senior Director (Infrastructure & Utilities Ratings), Abhishek Dangra said as per external estimates, the exposure of the banking sector to Adani group companies is less than 1 per cent and also the credit ratings of the firms are not at 'distress level'.

However, he added the risk premium to certain Indian companies and those within the Adani umbrella may rise and if banks have governance concerns, they put in more due diligence which may result in delay in sanctioning credit.

"So, there are no significant financial spillover risks directly. But there might be some secondary aspects. More so, when the dollar bond market is not necessarily open given high dollar rates, and domestic banking system is the one where many of the companies have started to look for funds, there some of the banks may do extra due diligence which might impact either the cost or timelines," Dangra said in a webinar.

S&P Global Ratings, earlier this month, had revised outlook on Adani Ports and Adani Electricity to negative from stable while affirming the rating.

The ratings agency cited the deterioration in the credit profile of Adani Ports and Adani Electricity Mumbai due to governance risks and funding challenges for the larger Adani Group.

Sensex, Nifty surge 1%, Adani stocks down; UPL, ITC, RIL top gainers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market on Tuesday snapped its two-day losing streak with benchmark indices - NSE Nifty and BSE Sensex - gaining about 1% each on the back of healthy buying seen across heavyweights and easing of wholesale inflation.

Adani listed firms continued to reel under pressure, with 6 out of 10 listed shares of the Group locked in 5% lower circuit on the BSE. The BSE Sensex surged 600 points to settle at 61,032 on Tuesday, while the Nifty50 gained 159 points to close the day at 17,930.

UPL, ITC, Reliance Industries and Adani Ports were the top gainers in the Nifty basket while Eicher Motors, Apollo Hospitals, SBI Life, Grasim Industries and BPCL fell. "Domestic indices edged higher, inspired by their global counterparts, as investors await the US inflation numbers on Tuesday," said Vinod Nair, head of Research at Geojit Financial Services. As per official data, US retail inflation rose at an annual rate of 6.4% in January 2023. "The whammy over retail inflation breaching the RBI's tolerance level was cooled by WPI inflation easing to 4.73% in January. IT stocks were in focus as investors anticipated a slowdown in US inflation, which could result in favourable Fed policy," added Nair. Among sectors, FMCG and PSU banks rallied over 1% whereas reality index shed over 1%. In the broader market, the BSE midcap index fell 0.4% and smallcap index fell 0.6%. "Indications are favourable for further recovery and we're eyeing 18,200 in Nifty. The move could be gradual citing restricted participation by select index heavyweights. Traders should align their positions accordingly and prefer index majors over others," said Ajit Mishra, VP - Technical Research, Religare Broking. Meanwhile, shares of Gautam Adani-led firms fell again. Adani Power (₹148.30), Adani Green Energy (₹653.40), Adani Transmission (₹1,070.55), Adani Total Gas (₹1,135.60), Adani Wilmar (₹393.60) and NDTV (₹188.35) were locked in lower circuit of 5%.

JAPAN

KAZUO UEDA NOMINATED AS BOJ GOVERNOR

Kazuo Ueda, an economist and former member of the Bank of Japan (BoJ) policy board, was nominated as the next central bank governor. Ueda, 71, would replace Haruhiko Kuroda, who will be stepping down after a second five-year term. Ueda have to take up the difficult task of steering the world's third-largest economy out of an unprecedented ultra-easy credit while contending with inflation and massive national debt. Historically most BoJ governors have hailed from the Finance Ministry or the bank itself. Ueda's nomination still needs parliamentary approval and he will face questioning by lawmakers. The choice of Ueda came as a surprise to many. Some observers see the move as an effort by Kishida to differentiate himself from the 'Abenomics' policies of former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe. The country had been stuck in a cycle of falling prices and stagnant growth for years, and the strategy was meant to foster an inflation rate of about 2%.

PAKISTAN

SET TO HIKE TAX IN RETURN FOR IMF BAILOUT

In a bid for a massive bailout, cash-strapped Pakistan will impose new taxes of 170 billion rupees this month, even as analysts warned the new taxes could accelerate the country's spiralling inflation. The dire outlook from economists and political analysts comes after the IMF delayed release of a crucial $1.1 billion portion of a 2019 deal worth $6 billion, on hold since December over Pakistan's failure to meet the terms. The IMF recommending steps including imposing new taxes in the latest round of the talks between Pakistan and the IMF concluded on Friday. The imposition of more taxes means tough days are ahead for the majority of the people in Pakistan who are already facing higher food and energy costs, AP quoted Ehtisham-ul-Haq, a veteran economist, as saying. There is no other way out if Pakistan needs the IMF loans, and Pakistan desperately needs it. The stalemate in talks between IMF and Pakistan was seen as a blow to the Prime Minister Shahbaz Sharif led government. The country is already struggling with the recovery from record-breaking floods, which killed 1,739 people in summer 2022 and destroyed 2 million homes.

ASIA

SHARES MOSTLY RISE

As investors waited for US consumer price data due out later in the day, Asian shares mostly rose on Tuesday, boosted by a rally on Wall Street. Sentiments are largely tracking the positive handover from Wall Street overnight. In a mixed sign of Japan's shaky recovery, government data showed the world's third largest economy grew at an annual pace of 0.6% in October-December. Tourism recovered, as did local travel, and exports grew, the Japan's Cabinet Office reported. Japan's benchmark Nikkei 225 rose 0.6% in morning trade to 27,579.73. Australia's S&P/ASX 200 edged up 0.2% to 7,435.90, while South Korea's Kospi added 0.8% to 2,471.38. The Shanghai Composite was virtually unchanged at 3,282.36, while Hong Kong's Hang Seng declined 0.4% to 21,083.61.

Vodafone Idea Q3 net loss widens to ₹7,990 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

Debt-ridden telecom operator Vodafone Idea (VIL) on Tuesday reported widening of its consolidated net loss to ₹7,990 crore for the third quarter quarter of financial year 2022-23 (FY23) due to rise in operating expenses and finance costs.

The telecom service provider had registered a net loss of ₹7,234.1 crore in the same period a year ago.

The consolidated revenue from operations of Vodafone Idea increased 9.29% to ₹10,620.6 crore from ₹9,717.3 crore for Q3FY22. The government during the quarter converted ₹16,133 crore interest related to deferment of spectrum auction instalments and AGR dues into equity, and now holds nearly 33% stake in the company.

The telco's average revenue per user (APRU), a key performance indicator of telecom operators, improved by 17.4% on a year-over-year basis to ₹135 during the December 2022 quarter, aided by tariff hikes and migration of subscribers to unlimited tariff plans.

However, overall subscriber base of VIL fell to 22.86 crore during the reported quarter from 23.44 crore in the September 2022 quarter.

The total gross debt as of December 31, 2022, was at ₹2.22 lakh crore, comprising deferred spectrum payment obligations of ₹1.39 lakh crore and adjusted gross revenue liability of ₹69,910 crore that are due to the government, the company said. VIL's debt from banks and other financial institutions was at ₹13,190 crore.

It announced the appointment of its executive Vice-President for Financial Controller and Taxation Head, Murthy GVAS as the interim chief financial officer and key managerial personnel of the company, with effect from February 15, 2023.

Raising funds won't be difficult for VIL, as it has infra, network, reputation: Govt

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

Days after the government has agreed to convert interest dues of debt-laden Vodafone Idea (VIL) related to deferred AGR and spectrum usage charge (SUC) payments into equity, the government is of the view that the telco would not find it difficult to raise funds as it has reputation, network and proper infrastructure

A senior official from the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) told this newspaper on condition of anonymity that the next four year is good time for telco to improve its services and stay in the market.

This is the time for VIL to raise funds and invest in its infrastructure. It is a perfect time (four year moratorium) for the telco to invest in its services like 5G so that it can catch up with its competitors. I don't think the telco has much liability in these years, thus it should focus on improving its services and rolling out its 5G network," said the official.

VIL, India's third-largest telecom operator, has been trying to raise funds for the past few years, but failed to do so. Currently, it has a net debt of about ₹2.2 lakh crore, and experts believe VI needs about ₹50,000 crore capital support. However, following the equity conversion from the government, the telco is back to get funds. As per the reports, it recently approached State Bank of India, Punjab National Bank and HDFC Bank to refinance ₹3,000-4,000 crore of loans.

PhonePe raises $100 mn more in latest round

BENGALURU: PhonePe on Tuesday announced it raised $100 million in primary capital from Ribbit Capital, Tiger Global and TVS Capital Funds, at a pre-money valuation of $12 billion. The additional funding follows recent $350 million fundraise that closed in January. The firm plans to deploy these funds to scale up its payments and insurance businesses in the country. ENS

Zomato CEO Deepinder Goyal plays down attrition issue amid top level exits

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

Within two months, food aggregator platform Zomato saw four top-level exits recently including its chief technology officer Gunjan Patidar and a VP at the company Siddharth Jhawar. But Zomato CEO Deepinder Goyal played down the attrition issue and its impact by saying that more than 200 people at Zomato have spent more than seven years at the company.

He took to social media on Tuesday and said, "There has been a lot of chatter about the culture at Zomato after a series of exits over the last few months." "Over 50% of the top 50 people at Zomato are more than seven years old at the company. Many of these folks are on their second (and third) stint at Zomato, and have been around since 2011/12," he said.

He added that they are proud of the high performance, culture driven organisation that the company is creating. "Will continue to look for high quality talent which wants to commit to a growth mindset, and extra-terrestrial performance," the CEO added.

Zomato looks to hire across 5 roles

3 weeks ago, Goyal posted on LinkedIn 800 positions across 5 roles at Zomato. Positions include Chief of staff to CEO, growth manager and product 'owner', among others. On Tuesday, Goyal said the firm is looking for a Chief Product Officer for the Zomato food delivery business

Three weeks ago, Goyal posted on LinkedIn about 800 positions that are open across five roles at Zomato. The positions include Chief of staff to CEO, Growth manager and Product 'owner', among others. On Tuesday, Goyal said the company is also looking for a Chief Product Officer for the Zomato food delivery business and also for Blinkit- its instant delivery service.

Speaking about senior exits in the last few months, in his letter to shareholders Goyal said that company building is not just about the journey of the business. "It is also so much about its people's personal journeys. Both these journeys take their own twists and turns. And sometimes, for some people, the distance between their form (their mindset and skillset) and the company's context becomes such that it is necessary to take a break from each other," he said.

Zomato recently reported that its net loss widened to ₹346.6 crore for the December quarter as against ₹67 crore in the same quarter last year. Its revenue stood at ₹1,948 crore, an increase of 75% compared to ₹1,112 crore in the year-ago period.

Three Ashoks' hand in SKY's rise to stardom

FIROZ MIRZA @Nagpur

Suryakumar Yadav with his coach Ashok Aswalkar | EXPRESS

ON February 9 at 8.01 am, Ashok Aswalkar received a WhatsApp call from his most famous ward, Suryakumar Yadav. "Sir, India ke liye khel raha hoon (sir I am playing (Test) for India)," said the No. 1 batter in the ICC T20I rankings. Having already made the ODI and T20I debuts in 2021, the Mumbai batter was longing for the Test cap. The dream became a reality when the former India player and coach Ravi Shastri handed him the Test cap in Nagpur ahead of the first Test of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy.

"Shabaash Surya (well done Surya). The dream which we saw at the start of the journey has come true. Keep your focus and enjoy the game," an emotional Aswalkar, who honed Surya's cricketing skills along with coach Ashok Kamat, at the BARC (Bhabha Atomic Research Centre) ground in Anushakti Nagar, Chembur (Mumbai), told this daily. Adding further he said, "Even India head coach Rahul Dravid asked him to play his natural game and enjoy the moment without worrying about anything else."

Anushakti Nagar houses scientists and academic geniuses employed by the BARC. Yadav Sr is a chief engineer at BARC. The family has been living in the area since 1989. Surya moved out of the colony in 2016. The 32-year-old Mumbai batter used to train regularly at the facility till he was picked in the national team — first for the T20Is and then ODIs. Despite the hectic schedule, he has been in regular touch with people including Aswalkar.

"Say it coincidence but three Ashoks (his father Ashokkumar Yadav, senior coach Ashok Kamat and me Ashok Aswalkar) came together and produced one of the most destructive batters in the game," said Aswalkar, who has been coaching budding cricketers at the ground for more than 30 years.

The right-hand batter started training at the facility when he was 10. Aswalkar along with the coach Kamat has seen his rise as a cricketer. But then came a time when Surya's Mumbai and IPL franchise's teammates leapfrogged him to make their India debuts. But once again, the three Ashoks came together to put their ward on the right track. "There comes a time when you don't listen to anyone. You don't understand no matter how much you are being advised. That period (3-4) years, which got wasted, made him understand," he said.

The coach also believed the marriage changed Surya completely as he became responsible and focussed. "A cricketers' life is filled with ups and downs but Surya has seen downs a lot. But no matter what others say, his discipline on the ground is exemplary. Once he came with his kit to the ground but the pitch was not ready. 'Surya aaj tujhe ghar vapis jaana hoga' (Surya you have to return home today), I told him. He kept his kit bag there and sat beside the pitch for more than two hours," said Aswalkar.

Aswalkar said Surya's parents handed him to them (Kamat and him) once they were told that the boy has potential to be a good cricketer.

On the eve of the second match against West Indies, bowling coach Cooley puts bowlers through their paces

India aim to make two wins in two

India look to keep the momentum going against West Indies as Pakistan and Ireland search for the first win on Wednesday. A look...

Pressure on Hayley

The West Indies skipper started off well against England but couldn't capitalise. Against India, Hayley Matthews would want make a massive impact for her team with the bat.

Pak hope for revival

It was a close game against India for Pakistan and they would want to replicate a similar performance, especially with the bat against a proactive Ireland side. And skipper Bismah Maroof will be crucial for them to do so.

All eyes on Mandhana : Smriti Mandhana had two long batting sessions where, at times, she seemed subconsciously tentative about the injury. Bowling coach Troy Cooley said that she did what was needed and that her injury will be assessed. The final call to be taken on match day.

TODAY'S MATCHES AT PAARL

Express @ Women's T20 World Cup
CAPE TOWN

"Go away, go away," Troy Cooley says loudly to Renuka Singh with a smile in one of the nets at Maties Oval in Stellenbosch. They both were happy as Renuka left the net, and Cooley moved on to oversee other bowlers. They had been working on her seam position, the release position and variations. And as she bowled one after another depending on what Cooley asked her to, there was a word of appreciation or a discussion of sorts depending on whether she got it right. The moment Singh bowled every ball as expected, Cooley did not want her to overdo it. That's when he asked her to go away.

"The girls have been working very hard since they arrived here. Their skills are in a good place. So today (Tuesday) was about topping them up, having them mentally and physically fresh for tomorrow (Wednesday)," said Cooley in the pre-match press conference ahead of the T20 World Cup clash against West Indies. "We come into these situations, they let me know what they're working on, what they want to try and once they get that, then the physical part of their preparation is looked after as well. So, we pack them up, their skills are ready, their minds ready and they're physically ready. So, they're the sort of conversations that we have," the Australian elaborated.

Now, Cooley, who was the bowling coach of England men during their historic 2005 Ashes victory, was brought on as fast bowling coach at the National Cricket Academy in January 2022. Since then, he has been working with the Indian bowlers at the NCA during several camps, including Shikha Pandey, Arundhati Reddy and Monica Patel to name a few. And every bowler who got to work with him has spoken about how much they have benefited from him. Which is why it came as no surprise when the BCCI brought him to South Africa as the bowling coach for the tri-series and T20 World Cup after sending Ramesh Powar, who was the head coach, back to the NCA.

And it was evident during the net sessions as well. Before the bowlers got to the nets, there was a group meeting with Cooley. In what was at least a 15-20 minute long session, there was a lot of laughter, some intense discussion with individuals on how they bowled in the previous match and things they will have to keep in mind the next time around. Ask what topics were talked about and he keeps it simple. "Oh, well, all the good conversations around how we're going to take the West Indies down," he smiles. "Just things that we were doing well, things that we need to concentrate on and their super strengths."

For him, having known the players and worked with them before at the NCA has come in handy. The focus for Cooley since he joined the team in South Africa has been on ensuring that the bowlers' strengths are ready to go. And the tactical part of it as well; some of the on-field decisions made during the ODI World Cup last year had cost them dearly. "Obviously, the tactics are pretty important during a World Cup. You know, we're coming up against some teams for the first time and the second time. So we're really working on the thinking part and the tactical part."

As Cooley prepares the bowling unit to take charge, it is still not clear if Smriti Mandhana will play on Wednesday. She opted to train with a lighter bat and focused on not being tentative. The opener had a long discussion in between with the trainer and physio and did not take part in the fielding drills. Despite skipper Harmanpreet Kaur opting out of training, Cooley said that she is fit and ready to lead. However, the team management will take a call on Mandhana before the game.

'Amazed' net bowlers aspire to emulate stars

GOMESH S @Cape Town

Smriti Mandhana with Tjaart Van Der Walt after a practice session.

TJAART Van Der Walt, along with Pieter Beuks, a fellow Stellenbosch University student, and a couple of Boland age-group female cricketers, had just finished bowling to the Indian batters for over 30 minutes at the Maties Oval nets in Stellenbosch. As they walked away from the nets, they wanted to take pictures with the players but had no clue who was who.

In fact, it is something they had struggled with throughout their time as net bowlers with the teams that trained at Maties Oval during the T20 World Cup. And being cricketers themselves, they knew enough to not disturb the players during their preparations.

What did they do? They went looking for pictures on google and checked if they could identify the players. "Because they wear helmets in the nets, we couldn't see their faces clearly," says Beuks, who plays for Van der Stel Sports Club in Stellenbosch. Van Der Walt, a differently-abled cricketer, said that the experience as a net bowler has been nothing short of inspiring. "It has been amazing to be allowed to be train with these amazing people and they are incredible athletes, it is an honour to bowl to them," says Van Der Walt, a South African citizen who is from Namibia. "I have been bowling to West Indies, Ireland, India, and New Zealand. Every team's experience is different. It was fascinating to see each team prepare."

For the BCom Management Accounting student, who has been playing cricket for as long as he could remember, it was more than just an experience.

The 23-year-old fast bowling all-rounder was a part of the South African Deaf Cricket team as a non-travelling reserve last year. This time, with the learnings he has been gaining bowling at proven international cricketers, he has set bigger goals for himself. "It has motivated me a lot. Just to see the level you can be at and what people do for you if you work hard and get to this level. For me, I want to go and play (for South Africa) in the Deaf Cricket World Cup this year. I am training hard for that. So, I'm just honoured to be here. I just didn't want to embarrass myself (in the nets) but I think I did well," said Van Der Walt.

Unlike the previous net sessions on Tuesday, both Van Der Walt and Beukes managed to get a picture with a couple of Indian players. "We got a picture with Jemimah (Rodrigues). She was just sitting there. We had to wait for Smriti (Mandhana), I think she is the highest-paid female cricketer (in the WPL Auction). It was a privilege," he signed off.

Pujara happy about this unique century

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

HE has been one of India's most consistent batters in the top. He has lent stability and has been part of many a campaign at home and overseas with Men in Blue. Cheteshwar Pujara will be playing his 100th Test in Delhi against Australia in the second Test. He shares his experience before the landmark.

''It has been a nice and fantastic journey for me. There have been ups and downs. When I made my debut in 2010 I played along with many legends like Sachin Tendulkar, Rahul Dravid, VVS Laxman, Virender Sehwag, Gautam Gambhir. It was a great experience to play with such great players. It was nice to play along with them. And after that, the journey started and it's been more than 12 years now. So the journey has been really fantastic. It will all the more pleasing to play my 100th Test match,'' said Pujara. A decade or more at the top in red ball cricket is unique and many a cricketer at some state would have gone through some rough patch

''It is difficult to single out a critical patch or bad phase in my career. As I said earlier there have been ups and downs. But I have enjoyed my journey," he said. Pujara pauses for a while looks back in time and adds, ''Journey is more important than achievements, like the 2017 India vs Australia series win in India, like the 2018 overseas tour win in Australia and again our overseas win in 2020 against Australia. There have been many milestones along the way. And there have been many people to thank for, my parents, my father who has been coaching me. My wife, she has been very supportive throughout my cricketing career. All my coaches who I have worked with I wish to thank them. Also all my teammates who have been part of this journey."

Puhara has more than 7000 runs and 19 hundreds in his bag. He values his contribution in trying circumstances, against challenging attacks and one that demanded his concentration. "It is difficult to single out one knock, there have been many," he said. "If I have to pick any then the 123 at Adelaide in 2018, 92 against Australia at Bangalore in 2017, 153 at Johannesburg 2013. Also the 66 against England in 2022 (rescheduled Test) that was not a big score but a courageous one." Pujara picks the South Africa attack in 2011 as the toughest. ''The toughest attack I faced when I first went to South Africa and had to play against Morne Morkel and Dale Steyn. That was my first overseas tour in 2011 and both Morne and Dale were at their peak. So that was the toughest time. I learnt to play in such pitches and learnt how to tackle such bowlers. When I played there (SA) again I did more preparation. In 2013 and had a great tour."

CRICKET STORY

Chief selector Sharma caught in sting op

New Delhi: BCCI chief selector Chetan Sharma was caught in a controversy on Tuesday after he allegedly revealed classified selection matters during a sting operation conducted by a TV channel. Sharma was seen during the sting operation casting aspersions on players like Virat Kohli and Jasprit Bumrah. Sharma alleged that a lot of players take injections to expedite their return to competitive cricket despite being 80 to 85 per cent fit.

Dortmund seek win over Chelsea in CL

AP @Dusseldorf

CHELSEA have one of the most talented and expensive group of players ever assembled in world football. Now might be the ideal time to beat them.

Borussia Dortmund is targeting an upset of big-spending Chelsea in the first leg of their Champions League last-16 meeting Wednesday. Chelsea's recent run of three straight draws in the Premier League — including 1-1 against West Ham on Saturday — should be an encouraging sign for the German team.

Against West Ham, Chelsea looked like a group of extremely talented individuals who have just been introduced. That, of course, is exactly what they are.

In a starting line-up containing five January signings, João Félix, Enzo Fernández and Mykhailo Mudryk all shone in brief glimpses but didn't form a cohesive unit before West Ham levelled the score and Chelsea gradually faded away in the second half.

WEDNESDAY'S MATCHES

Dortmund vs Chelsea, Club Brugge vs Benfica (both at 1.30 AM on Thursday).

Top post for Govindaraj

ENS @Bengaluru

FOR the first time, an Indian is set to take the top position in the FIBA Asia, comprising 44 countries. According to a Basketball Federation of India press release, K Govindaraj, who is the current president of the body, has been unanimously nominated for the post.

"It's an honour for the entire Indian sport fraternity to get an opportunity and responsibility to be at the helm of affairs of Asian basketball and help in the development of basketball in Asia," he was quoted as saying. Govindaraj said, "It is also an acknowledgement of sorts for all the good and developmental work we have put together in taking Indian basketball forward. I take this opportunity to thank all my past, present and future colleagues in BFI, especially secretary general Chander Mukhi Sharma..."

He also thanked the top officials of FIBA.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

Liverpool beat Everton 2-0, Gakpo gets his first

LIVERPOOL : With three fist pumps in front of the home fans, Jurgen Klopp celebrated his 250th win as Liverpool manager after beating Everton 2-0. Victory in the Merseyside derby is always something to savour. But such have been Liverpool's troubles in recent weeks that a win of any description would have been gratefully received by the Anfield crowd. Sitting ninth in the standings, this was a first victory in the PL in 2023 for Liverpool and only the second in eight games.

Shreyas to join squad

NEW DELHI: India batter Shreyas Iyer has successfully completed his rehab at the National Cricket Academy following his back injury and has been cleared by the BCCI medical team, said a BCCI statement.

Sociedad win

MADRID: Japan forward Takefusa Kubo scored in the first half to lead third-place Real Sociedad to a 3-2 win at relegation-threatened Espanyol in the Spanish league on Monday.

Djokovic touch in Medjedovic's nascent career

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

Hamad Medjedovic during an interaction on Tuesday | PJAWAHAR

OUTSIDE of Serbia, Novak Djokovic maybe a polarising figure. Inside, he is like a God. That feeling is only heightened when you speak to tennis players from Serbia, who have continued to produce talents. Hamad Medjedovic, 19, who got past wild card Leo Borg to advance to the second round of the Chennai Open on Tuesday, is one such talent. A former junior World No. 9, Medjedovic is considered as somebody who could possibly lead Serbia in the future. Like scores of other players who have emerged from the country in the last decade or so, he also holds Djokovic close to his heart.

No, this isn't just because Medjedovic trains at The Novak Academy in Belgrade. You could make a case for saying if it wasn't for Djokovic's interest in Medjedovic nascent career, the latter may have already slipped through the cracks.

Medjedovic, who was born in a town bordering Montenegro before shifting base to Belgrade when he was nine, explains the story. "Serbia is a small country," he says. "You can hear... I was good at the junior (level). He (Djokovic) probably heard about me and I had a good win at the French Open against the first seed (Medjedovic beat then junior World No 1 Harold Mayot in the boys singles at Roland Garros in 2020) and that is when he texted me. I said thanks. Then, he called me to practice. After that, he wanted me to stay at his centre and that is how everything started."

The 22-time Major champion also took care of his financial needs. "He helped me a lot, including financial. He helped me in every possible way. You know he's always there, giving me a lot of advice. He doesn't tell me about what goals I should set or what rank I should have six months down the line. He wants me to improve my physical and mental game, he tells me I should be more focused on this than the rankings."

Medjedovic, who has called Djokovic his mentor in the past, says the thing he loves the most about his compatriot is his discipline to become better at tennis. "You can learn so many things from Novak," he says. "He's the most disciplined guy I have ever met and it is something I admire. Everything he does, sleeping, eating... anything that adds to his game. His full day is dedicated to the game." When you spend so much time with somebody like Djokovic, you become immune to the presence of other greats. On Tuesday, Bjorn Borg was courtside to watch his son. It had no effect on the Serb. "I didn't have any problems with Borg," he smiles. "I have got used to some players watching me, especially Novak."

Meanwhile, India's Sumit Nagal is the lone Indian in the second round here.

While Prime Volleyball League has helped the sport achieve mainstream success, organisers believe Indian volleyball has the potential to compete at the 2028 Olympics
RuPay
BASELINE

A GAME OF POSSIBILITIES

The culture of volleyball here in India is huge. Even though the local players didn't have much exposure to the international game, I must say they have adapted to the newer system fairly quickly

Ruben Adrian Wolochin, volleyball coach

With only 15 points at stake, the game is faster and gets over in two or three rotations. The game is more ejoyable. It suits the players as well

Akhin GS, volleyball player

TUNIR BISWAS

IF you had visited the Koramangala Indoor Stadium in the recent past, you would have noticed a new sport had taken over the court. While the game isn't particularly new by any means, its presence under the spotlight has been a warm awakening for fans. The sport in question is volleyball and the thing that has catapulted it onto the mainstream is the Prime Volleyball League (PVL), which is currently ongoing in its second season. Bengaluru was hosting PVL until Feb 12, but now it will be played Hyderabad and Kochi. A big draw for players in the league is that the winning team will participate in the FIVB Volleyball Men's Club World Championship, taking place in India at the end of the year.

While the stadium was partially packed most of the time, the ones who were in attendance, displayed high enthusiastic pride in supporting the sport they love. One such fan is Rohan Gupta, who had come to the city from Baroda to watch the league. "When I was in school, my coach introduced me to volleyball. He was from south India and he showed me how much support volleyball has in the southern part of the country. Last year, I saw it on TV in my hostel and didn't think watching it live would be very different. But once I was there, I realised how wrong I was. You can truly sense the commanding presence of athletes on the court," shares Gupta.

The kind of volleyball played in PVL is new-age. Traditionally a sport played in three or five sets, with each set comprising 25 points (with the final set having only 15 points), in PVL, every set is a 15-point showdown. Joy Bhattacharjya, the CEO of PVL, believes this change adds a higher element of thrill to the game.

"We introduced this league to change the place volleyball has on the sporting scale in India. For some reason, it had always been a sport that never got too much attention after the college level. It never had any heroes and without heroes, a sport can't grow. There was also high potential for volleyball to be a national sensation because it is a screen-friendly sport. This format is exciting as the moment a team loses out on 3-4 points, they are scrambling to catch up," shares Bhattacharjya, adding the level of play in Indian volleyball is high but is untapped. If the country invests in the sport enough, the Indian team can go on to represent the country in the Olympics by 2028.

Akhin GS, a key player for the Chennai Blitz, believes the new rules have made the game more enjoyable. "With only 15 points at stake, the game is faster and gets over in two or three rotations. It is more enjoyable and suits the players as well," says Akhin.

On the increasing popularity of PVL, Srajan U Shetty, who plays for Bengaluru Torpedoes, is enjoying his time playing in the nationally televised tournament and being coached under three-time Olympian and 2008 gold medalist David Lee. "The league gave us access to Lee as our coach who guided and shared his experience of dominating the sport at the highest level. Playing in my home state has also helped me be grateful for the support this city has provided," says Shetty, adding that he looks forward to playing against the Kolkata Thunderbolts, the defending champions of the tournament.

Ruben Adrian Wolochin, an Argentine and the head coach of the Chennai Blitz, feels the new PVL rules have created novel strategic avenues for the sport. "The rules have opened up new ways of approaching a game. Players are more conservative and make fewer mistakes. The mental approach is different now. I have been coaching since 1991 and have coached in 12 different countries. The culture of volleyball here in India is huge.

Even though the local players didn't have much exposure to the international game, I must say they have adapted to the newer system fairly quickly," concludes Wolochin.

Yoga centre sets new Guinness World Records

On February 11, the Akshar Yoga Research & Development Centre set three new Guinness World Records at the Mandala Yoga Festival. The records were for the most number of people performing and holding Halasana (60 seconds), Ustrasana (60 seconds), and Vasishtasana (45 seconds). The event was attended by participants from all walks of life, including police officers and underprivileged children who were trained by Akshar Yoga Master Teachers. The chief guest, minister of higher education, Dr C N Ashwath Narayan, spoke about the importance of yoga and its benefits for overall health and well-being. The founder of Akshar Yoga, Himalayan Siddhaa Akshar, dedicated these records to yoga practitioners worldwide.

City-based Vishnu Tenkayala, who was part of the team that shot Kiara Advani and Sidharth Malhotra's wedding video, speaks to CE about his journey, the discreetness that is maintained for high-profile weddings and things to note while shooting these events

MONIKA MONALISA

Capturing memories

KIARA Advani and Sidharth Malhotra's wedding video is the nation's current obsession. The stillness of the moment when Advani walked in as a bride or Malhotra's reaction when he saw her for the first time...The team of The Wedding Filmers captured it all. The world got a glimpse of the wedding when the team dropped the video but there was one Bengaluru boy who was part of the team and witnessed it live. And it was videographer Vishnu Tenkayala.

Tenkayala, who got involved in the wedding quite late in the day, was, nonetheless, thrilled because it was going to be his 'special first' high-profile wedding. Spilling some beans about the event, the 31-year-old says the wedding had strict security and non-disclosure clauses to be followed. "There was immense security. This was a completely unplugged wedding. We did not have access to our mobile phones. It was their day....it was about them. It was good for us as there was no distraction. I couldn't share this with friends or family," says Tenkayala.

Believing a wedding shoot isn't like a movie, Tenkayala looks at weddings as special moments and tries to capture them as they happen. "Weddings are unlike movies. No retakes, you can't ask for makeup to be redone or shots to be reshot. There is no pre-production, there is no script. Yet you need to shoot it in the manner of a story. You have to be vigilant and keep all your senses open to what's happening around you," he explains.

All this would not have happened had Tenkayala not taken the risk of quitting his steady job. Seven years ago, when he was browsing Facebook, a video popped up and it was of a wedding film. "I was so fascinated by the content, it was shot so beautifully and looked like a movie. I drafted a long email saying that I don't know anything about movies and haven't worked in this space but really loved what the team was doing and wanted to be a part of it. The next day I got a call from Vishal Punjabi (founder of The Wedding Filmer) appreciating my mail. He asked if I would go to Mumbai for an interview," recalls Tenkayala.

He hopes to one day make his own movie. "Cinema is too integral to me. I have shot a lot of fiction apart from ads, videos and short films but in the future, I want to do my own feature. I want to eventually move into that.

Being a Bengaluru boy, I definitely want to be involved in Kannada cinema in which I see great potential," shares Tenkayala.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. In 1831, when the British administration shifted the capital from Mysore to Bengaluru, initially for a few decades till 1868, a historic building in Chamarajpet was used as their administrative offices. This structure built during 18th century in Indo-Islamic architectural style today is one of the most visited historic structures in Bengaluru. Name the building.

2. In 1868 the administrative offices were shifted to 'Attara Kacheri' (meaning 'eighteen offices', a term coined to Mysore governance by Chikkadevaraja Wodeyar influenced by Aurangzeb's style of administration) and was officially called the Mysore Public Offices. What houses the Attara Kacheri building today after the states administrative offices shifted to Vidhana Soudha in 1956?

3. Raj Bhavan, the official residence of the governor of Karnataka was originally a private bungalow built in the early 1840s by Sir Mark Cubbon, the then British commissioner of Mysore state. Lewin Bentham Bowring, who succeeded Cubbon as commissioner purchased the bungalow using government funds in 1862 and was used as the official residence of the commissioner. With the rendition in 1881, when the power was transferred to the Mysore royal family, the office of the commissioner was abolished and the building was used as the residence of the Resident till 1947. What was the bungalow called then?

FIT BIT

BHARMANASANA
(TABLE TOP POSE)

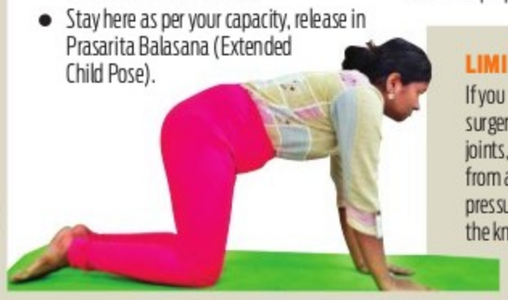
This is a foundation pose for many yoga poses, which helps the beginners to align the hands and legs in the right measurements. It helps to bring balance in the body while the entire muscles are equally stretched. It can be practised by senior citizens.

STEPS

- Align in Vajrasana (Thunderbolt Pose) and take a couple of breaths here.
- Now, move the torso forward while placing the palms on the floor in front of you, resting the knees on the floor.
- Bring the torso parallel to the floor.
- Make sure the distance between the knees and the palms is the same to avoid imbalance.
- Feet and the toes should be in line with the knees. The tops of the feet should be resting on the mat.
- Flex hips together with an internal rotation, stacked above the knee. Slightly pull the navel to maintain core strength.
- Get a feel of the body and maintain the balance. Breathe slowly for 12 rounds.
- Look down, keeping the neck and head steady, parallel to the mat.
- Engage the core muscles to keep the spine and shoulders in balance.
- Gain confidence and calm your body while connecting to the breath.
- Stay here as per your capacity, release in Prasarita Balasana (Extended Child Pose).

BENEFITS

- Stimulates the Visuddha (throat) chakra, which improves communication skills.
- Stretches the arms, shoulders, wrists, hips, core, thighs, knees and spine.
- Balances and relieves tension.
- Stretches the arms, shoulders, elbows, wrists, chest, back (upper, middle, and lower), hips, quadriceps, hamstrings, knees and neck.
- Spine muscles are toned, core is engaged.
- Brings focus and awareness to the spine.
- It is great for posture correction.
- Helps to increase the breath capacity.
- Calm, restorative pose bringing self-awareness.
- It's a passive core strengthening pose.
- Actively supports the lumbar spine.
- Used actively in postnatal core-strengthening.
- Treats insomnia and mild depression.
- Pregnant women can practise this with ease as the weight of the womb is not on legs.
- It is a preparatory pose for many asanas.



LIMITATIONS

If you are injured or have undergone recent surgery, have weak knees, ankles, wrists joints, carpal tunnel syndrome, suffering from arthritis, avoid this asana. If you feel pressure on the knees, use a blanket under the knees. Don't lock your elbows.

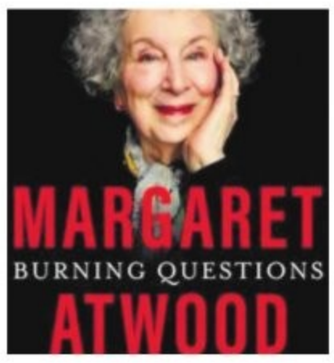
3 WRITERS FOR DINNER & A QUESTION



FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

ONE of my favourite sections of The New York Times Book Review is the column: By the Book: The Dinner Party. It asks the question: You are organising a literary dinner party. Which three writers, dead or alive, do you invite? In a recent poll, the top three dinner guests who received the maximum votes were: Shakespeare, James Baldwin and Mark Twain.

Of course, let's not forget that the responses are from the US and therefore biased towards western writers. However, this got me thinking about the three authors that I would like to have dinner with and why. I would rate American science fiction author Frank Herbert, Canadian novelist Margaret Atwood and Israeli historian Yuval Noah Harari as my three favourite conversationalists (not just writers).

They are all original thinkers who provided me interesting insights through their writings as well as their lives.

I discovered Frank Herbert very late, after watching the 2021 movie Dune. I am not a sci-fi fan but once I started reading the book, published in 1965, I found that not only does it tell a fascinating story but it also imparts some profound lessons. I first read the graphic novel, so I got a hang of the storyline and the characters before reading the novel, which is one of the longest and most difficult books I've ever read. The core message is that every leader is flawed and so one should not blindly trust leaders. Herbert said, "I wrote the Dune series because I had this idea that charismatic leaders ought to come with a warning label on their forehead: May be dangerous to your health." If I had him over for dinner, I would ask him, "Since power attracts corruptible people, what virtue would attract noble ones?"

I have long been a fan of Margaret Atwood for being an outspoken feminist and environmentalist. To know her position on various issues, I would recommend her book Burning Questions. I love her predictions for the future and her take on science and technology; she has warned us against developments in biotechnology. We "can make embryos out of skin cells" which, she says, could lead to a society where we are all women, or where women are no longer needed! About her relationship with her partner Graeme Gibson she said, "He wasn't an egotist, so he wasn't threatened by anything I was doing. He said to our daughter towards the end of his life, 'Your mum would still have been a writer if she hadn't met me, but she wouldn't have had as much fun.'" My question to Atwood would be, "What role does a man play in a women's success?"

What makes Yuval Harari interesting is that he has answers for the future even though he is a historian. He says, "History is the study of change, not just the study of the past. So, it covers the future as well." His blockbuster Sapiens is a sweeping saga of the human species – from our humble beginnings as apes to a future where we will sire the algorithms that will dethrone and dominate us. All of his books and talks are worth going through. I relate to his worry that "the basis of the future, not only of humankind, the future of life, is now in the hands of a very small group of entrepreneurs". He views modernity as a "deal" whose 'entire contract can be summarised in a single phrase: humans agree to give up meaning in exchange for power.' My question to him would be, "Is a moral life in conflict with power?"

What would make the dinner interesting would be to see how each would react to the predictions of the other. I wonder if they all are saying the same thing!

TO FIRST-GEN GAMERS

I was at a bar recently, and going through the social motions – of meeting people, asking them what they do, and moving on to topics that are common and shallow enough for the entire group. Which is when I met a young man who introduced himself as an 'e-sports professional'.

My first response was to smirk. I do that sometimes. I pursue five careers at the same time, and when at a party, I usually mention the one that is likely to elicit the least number of questions. The young man was probably trying to evade questions. But the standup comedian in me couldn't resist a few potshots. 'Do you have to go to the gym? Since you're a sportsperson and all?' Without batting an eyelid, he replied that he did have to go to a gym, and in fact, had to take extra care of his back since gamers are more prone to back injuries than bank employees!

I am not usually condescending to youngsters. I firmly believe that humans have thrived and taken over the planet because the next generation is always smarter than the previous one. It is the reason we have smartphones, and AI, and the planet is getting tired of us. But I grew up in a generation where the word 'video games' was always used in a negative sense. They were seen as distractions, and could ruin your life.

The first video game I ever played was 'Road Rash'. It was a game where you rode a motorcycle through poorly designed roads while hitting, kicking, and punching all your opponents. I belong to a generation that played Road Rash and (unsurprisingly) grew up to become Salman Khan fans! It was when my relatives bought a computer for myself that I was exposed to the first generation of video games. The first game I tried to play was 'Minesweeper'. The name was exciting, but the game itself – was probably my first experience of depression. I clicked on buttons randomly and lost the game, feeling like a British emperor colonising the world through a series of global disasters. Then there was Spider Solitaire. I later found out that Microsoft had created the game to get people familiar with using the mouse! To think that I spent hours playing a game that was not even created with an intent to entertain!

(Writer, comedian)

Then came the second generation of games. Like 'Cricket', which had names like 'Suchyn Tendolkayr' and 'Virayndr Saywahg'. I played a game on skateboarding without ever having touched a skateboard in my life. And then, I chanced upon the greatest product Microsoft has ever created – Age of Empires. Having newly discovered the joys of bhang, I plunged into the game, playing it for hours. And even as an adult in my 20s, I would always feel a sense of guilt about 'wasting' my time on video games. By the time the PlayStation and XBox arrived in the market, life had caught up with me. I never invested time, effort or money in gaming – content to play a pirated version of Age of Empires when I could.

Who would have thought that youngsters would defy their parents, and choose to pursue video games as a professional career? These kids were breaking generations of stereotypes and indoctrination by choosing to do what they truly enjoy. I felt bad for judging the kid, and apologised to him while ordering another beer. He shrugged it off, probably used to people my age being judgmental about his career. 'What do you do?', he asked me. 'I…I am a journalist', I fumbled. He looked at me, nodded, and smiled.

Thriller novel based on historical events announced

The Portrait of a Secret, a novel inspired by true events, was recently announced by Penguin Random House. Authored by Tarun Mehrishi , the book traces the story of two paintings by legendary artist Nicholas Roerich and their central role in a battle for geopolitical power between the Indian RAW, the Pakistani ISI and the American CIA. Featuring a fast-paced, non-linear that culminates in an astonishing ending, the novel weaves historical events, such as the Bolshevik revolution, the creation of Bangladesh, the accession of Kashmir to India and Osama bin Laden's end, with fiction to deliver a fascinating read. The book will be released in March. –IANS

Geethanjali-fame Girija returns to silver screen with Rakshit Shetty-backed Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali

Girija

A SHARADHAA

REMEMBER Girija, the actor, who won our hearts with her performance in Mani Ratnam's Telugu blockbuster, Geethanjali, which starred Nagarjuna? After a couple of films in Malayalam, including Vandanam with Mohanlal, Girija bid adieu to films in the 90s, except for a brief comeback in Tujhe Meri Kasam in 2003. The actor is now finally making a comeback to the silverscreen with debutant director Chandrajith Belliappa's upcoming romantic drama Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali. This project, backed by Rakshit Shetty's Paramvah Studios, will mark her Kannada debut.

Incidentally, Girija's father, a doctor, is a Kannadiga, and her mother is British. Although the makers have not divulged any details about the character, she is set to make a comeback in the film, which stars Panchatantra hero Vihan and popular teleserial actor and singer Ankita Amar. Girija is expected to join the sets of Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali. soon. Meanwhile, the makers released a making video on the occasion of Valentine's Day.

In their previous reports about the film, the makers mentioned that the film will explore the essence of yesteryear romance, and explore the relevance of today's love, and if it can stand the test of time.

Chandrajith Belliappa has been a member of the 7 Odds writing team of Rakshit Shetty and has worked as a writer for Kirik Party, and Avane Srimannarayana . His debut was with a short film, Rainbow, for Rishab Shetty's anthology, Kathasangama, and Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali will be his first full-length feature.

Gagan Baderiya is onboard as the composer, and Srivathsan Selvarajan has been roped as the cinematographer of Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali.

The actor, who is set to return to acting after two decades, will be playing a pivotal role in director Chandrajith Belliappa's romantic drama

'My father Sanjeev Kulkarni was an identity card, but I still made it on my own'

...says Sourabh Kulkarni, who talks about his directorial debut, Siri Lambodhara Vivaha, which is slated to release this week

CE FEATURES

SOURABH Kulkarni might be known for his comedy roles on the small screen, especially the serial Paapa Pandu- season 2. However, Sourabh, the son of noted Television anchor Sanjeev Kulkarni, got his first break as a child artiste in the devotional film, Sri Guru Raghavendra.

Now, he is set to test the waters with his directorial debut, Siri Lambodhara Vivaha (SLV). Sourabh credits his friends for giving him the push to turn filmmaker, and explains how the film has around 25 people as investors. "During my college days, we had formed a 7 member team, which was named as Nammane Productions. Each one handled different departments of cinema like camerawork, editing and writing. However, the director spot was empty, so I filled the spot. It was Kitty Koushik, a former associate of cinematographer Manohar Joshi, who gave me that first push to get into full-fledged direction. After having done 5 short films, I'm now set to mark my directorial debut on the big screen with SLV," says Sourabh.

Sourabh bills SLV, starring Anjan A Bharadwaj and Disha Ramesh, as a commercial family entertainer with elements of humour. "As a director, I was particular not to do an out-and-out comedy. However, the film gives space for people to laugh. SLV has the required commercial elements to cater to all sectors of audiences, especially the masses, and families.

The film revolves around a wedding, and the leads play the role of Wedding planners, and its complications. "The film's twist that comes with post interval is unexpected and the highlight of SLV.

Sanjeev says that his father has been his identity card, but he still made it on his own by attending auditions for the projects. "Of course, my father has been a blessing in disguise at every stage of my career," he says.

On bringing together 25 producers for SLV, Sourabh says, "I had support of people right from the time I made short films. The investments and profits were usually divided among our friends. I applied this same logic to my first feature film as well, and we had so many people coming as working partners, including actors and technicians. It was like a Tirupathi hundi, where we accepted funds from one rupee to thousands," he chuckles.

About the casting, Sourabh says, he knew Anjan since his television days and admired his acting potential. "Considering he was trained in Anupam Kher's acting school, I always knew he was a wonderful actor. We had maintained a good rapport since serial days, and we decide to team up for the silver screen too. As for Disha Ramesh, she is the daughter of my guru and noted theatre artist, Mandya Ramesh. Having known Disha for a long time, I felt she was the perfect fit for this role. We were clear about not having known faces, and I had the confidence to choose the actors from my circle. Since all three of us are from a similar on the age group, and having known each other for a long time, it worked in favour of the film,' he says.

Distributed by Manjunath Gowda, the film has Kitty Koushik as atcameraman and Sangarsh Kumar scoring the music. The cast also includes actors like Rajesh Nataranga, Sunder Veena, PC Satish Chandra, Shivu, and Sadananda Khiladigalu in pivotal roles.

The making of a dystopic fairytale

SHAUNAK Sen's documentary All That Breathes had its world premiere on January 22, 2022, at the Sundance Film Festival, where it won the Grand Jury award in the World Cinema Documentary Competition. Over a year since then, it has emerged, deservedly so, as the most celebrated among the recent Indian films. The most awarded documentary of the year won laurels like the L'Œil d'Or at the 2022 Cannes Film Festival, best feature, director and editing prizes at the International Documentary Association Awards 2022 and the best documentary trophy at the Gotham Independent Film Awards. It has also been nominated for Best Documentary Feature at the 95th Academy Awards.

All That Breathes is underlined with a sense of urgency when it comes to the issue of ecological devastation it is centred on. It tells the story of brothers Mohammad Saud and Nadeem Shehzad, their assistant Salik Rehman and their lifelong commitment to rescuing and saving the injured kites. "The epistemic wallpaper of our lives" is how Sen puts it.

Excerpts:

The story of Mohammad Saud and Nadeem Shehzad had been documented before. What was it that intrigued you to think of making a film about them?

Growing up in Delhi, a person is used to the hazy sky, the sun as the diffused blot, and the bad air. And there is a general sense that something hostile is dominating your life. And then every time you look up, you'll always see these slow, gliding dots. The kites. One of the first things I remember telling my producer partner, Aman Mann, was that I was interested in making this film where the audience comes out of the theatre and looks up at the sky.

When I met the brothers, I found that they work in this tiny, derelict, very industrially decayed basement. On the one side, there are the heavy metal cutting machines and the whirring, metallic sounds. On the other side, I found these magisterial yet vulnerable birds. There's something inherently cinematic about this kind of duality. They are doing such phenomenally important work in this tiny, stifling, claustrophobic basement.

What went into the scripting and shooting of the film?

It came up organically. We had hours and hours of interviews from over two and a half years of shooting footage. I had a diary full of very clever, acute and often philosophically intense things that the brothers would share through the comments, which we sharpened over time. We then extracted the best bits out of it. My previous film Cities of Sleep was more classically observational, candid, and shot with a handheld camera. This was far more controlled, curated, languid, fluid, and aestheticized.

Was this process of curating reality satisfying or challenging?

I don't know if satisfying would be a correct parameter. Whatever comes intuitively or organically to you at the time of making, feels satisfactory. I would like to believe that All That Breathes is a far more mature understanding of time and space, editing rhythm and the camera. But I was a different person back then and Cities of Sleep was an intuitive expression of who I was then.

There is the sky and kites in the film but there's a lot captured about what's happening on the ground, and the whole ecosystem of scavenging.

In the first few shots, if you look at the images and break those down, the camera immerses you in this kind of subterranean world, almost the substrata of the city, teeming with rats. After that, you see a lone single kite soaring in the sky beautifully, after which you see a puddle on the road with a pack of mosquitoes who are both terrestrial and in the air. This sense of different cuts of straight lines above the ground was something that I was vaguely interested in, not in a very frontal manner.

I was very interested in the theory of more-than-human turn. It tells us that the human is not the absolute central reference point of analysis or entry into the world. You think of the world through these different nodes of entanglements and these non-human lives.

So, for instance, when you see a slow, languid pan of a turtle going through garbage and then look at the traffic above, what you're seeing is a kind of encounter or collision between two different temporalities. Eventually, we developed a grammar to tell it. We developed these slow, languid pans, or tilts down where you reveal the duality of the world. Over time, through the shoot, what we realized was very important to the vocabulary of filming was that we should not cut the shots. So, none of these shots has any cuts.

Researching, writing, shooting and editing. It must have been an exhaustive process.

Animals are not easy to shoot. They are monumentally indifferent to your design. We were also certain that we didn't want to do the more conventional wildlife documentary. We also didn't have the skills to do it. You can say that you want to shoot the mice and snails and all of that. But to find them and then shoot them is another matter altogether. So, it meant just relentlessly turning up at places every day.

There is a comforting and languid touch profound in all aspects of the film.

Sometimes there is this overromanticized, bleeding-heart sentimentality about environmentalism, that I don't have a lot of patience for. What drew me to the brothers was that they have a wry, unsentimental way of soldiering every day while witnessing ecological devastation at a scale that is unimaginable for most of us.

They follow the emotional logic of the story, even if they feel like they are interrupting the narrative thrust. And that was something that developed very organically on the edit.

There is talk about the smelly water, about a child being unwell. You have integrated pollution as a part of life.

At no point did we ever think that we were making a film on pollution. We were very sure about what we were not going to do. Only later did we discover what the film was about. It slowly began to emerge that these are the broader coordinates that the film ought to map and what to steer clear of.

The ecological issues around Delhi, very often are the epistemic wallpaper of our lives. The kind of banal, trivial ways in which emerging environmental consciousness articulates itself every day. It's not an exception. It's in the fabric of every day.
